'LITTLE STALIN' QUILTS UNDER FIRE—

Hungary Red Boss Topples

Rakosi Confesses He Trod Stalinist Path

VIENNA, Austria, (AP)—The biggest "little Stalin" of Russia's East European satellites fell Wednesday night. Matyas Rakosi, long the boss of Communist Hungary, resigned under fire. The party's Central Committee accepted his resignation.

RUSSELL K. SMITH

Budapest radio said he was replaced as first secretary of the party by Erno Gero, first deputy premier. Gero, as Hungary's No. 2 Communist, had engaged Rakosi in a struggle for power.

He "Confesses"

Rakosi was removed from party leadership and from membership in the all-powerful Politburo after confessing he practiced Stalinist dictatorship.

Rakosi likewise pleaded he is an old and sick man. He is 65. This probably is the final curtain to the political career of the Hungarian who was a friend of Stalin and a foe of President Tito of Yugoslavia.

Forester Smith Promoted To Section Head

Russell K. Smith, forest supervisor of the Nebraska National Forest and in charge of Nebraska and Kansas co-operative forestry since May 1954, is being promoted to chief of the section of forest pest control, division of forest pest control, in the Washington office of the U. S. Forest Service.

Smith's transfer will be effective Aug. 12, according to Regional Forester Donald E. Clark.

Replacing Smith in the Nebraska-Kansas position will be Harry P. Gaylor, Durango, Colo. He is now staff assistant to the forest supervisor of the San Juan National Forest.

Former CCC Aid

Gaylor has held forestry positions in several states since joining the service in 1930, serving as ranger and assistant forest supervisor and as staff assistant in the regional office. In 1935 he was assistant CCC administrator in Nebraska.

The division of forest pest control, which Smith will head, was set up recently to co-ordinate activities previously handled by different divisions in the Washington Forest Service office.

Smith was born in Fullerton, Neb., and received his bachelor of science degree in forest entomology from Colorado A & M College. He entered the Forest Service in June, 1933, and served four years as superintendent of various CCC camps in the Rocky Mountain Region. He was in charge of the Central District of the Harney Forest in South Dakota from 1937 to 1941.

To Nebraska In '47

In 1941 he was transferred to Roosevelt National Forest in Colorado as timber sale ranger. He served 1942 to 1947 in the armed forces, returning to Roosevelt Forest, and was moved in June of 1947 to district forest ranger in the Bessey district of the Nebraska National Forest.

In July, 1948, he became forest-in-charge of the Nebraska Forest, and in May of 1954 was promoted to forest supervisor at Lincoln for Nebraska and Kansas.

Smith is married and has a one-year-old son.

Soil Bank Sign-Up Deadline Pushed Ahead One Week

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Agriculture Department Wednesday gave farmers another week in which to sign up for participation in the soil bank acreage reserve program for 1956.

It set back the "sign-up" deadline from this Friday to July 27, and said the week's delay would avoid possible confusion since the wheat marketing quota referendum will be held in 36 commercial wheat states on Friday.

The department also changed the deadlines by which state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees establish local deadlines, for disposing of crops on designated reserve acreage.

These deadlines were changed from July 15 through July 31 to July 27 through Aug. 3.

His Colonel Testifies:

McKeon Action 'Maltreatment'

... Death Swamp Visited By Court

By BEM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—A stern Marine lieutenant colonel said Wednesday the type march on which S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon led six Marines to death could be called maltreatment.

Lt. Col. Robert A. Thompson of Syracuse, N.Y., McKeon's former boss, appeared as a prosecution witness in the general court-martial of the 31-year-old former drill instructor from Worcester, Mass.

McKeon has been charged with involuntary manslaughter, oppression of recruits and two counts of drinking in a duty status as a result of the march by the 74-man recruit platoon into a tidal creek.

The impassive sergeant pleaded innocent Tuesday to the major counts and the court entered a plea of innocent for him on the lesser counts.

Thompson's opinion was offered on cross-examination in a "hypothetical case," the circumstances of which were identical to the McKeon incident of April 8.

Before Thompson, recruit battalion commander, appeared on the stand, the defense argued that McKeon owed "no apology to anyone" for marching the six Marines to death in a soggy marsh.

No Apology

Defense attorney Emile Zola Berman of New York City held that if any apology is due it "should not be made by McKeon."

Berman has contended all along that the training methods used by McKeon were normal at this training center.

Thompson, under cross-examination, was asked if he considered a march such as that conducted by McKeon maltreatment.

"Without adequate reconnaissance, without adequate safeguards, with full knowledge that some members of the platoon could not swim, it would be maltreatment," Thompson told Berman.

The colonel also equated maltreatment with physical pain "but not exclusively." Asked if he considered robbing a man of his dignity as maltreatment, Thompson answered, "I do not. Some might."

The prosecution, headed by Maj. Charles B. Sevier of Jacksonville, Ill., and the defense made opening statements Wednesday and then got down to hearing witnesses and introducing testimony.

In the afternoon, the court went to the scene of the tragedy.

For McKeon it was his first time back in the area since the court of inquiry was convened which leveled the charges against him.

White-helmeted Marine MPs barred newsmen from accompanying the general courtmartial board to the Ribbon Creek area.

A sergeant told the newsmen they were halted "on orders of the court president," Col. Edward L. Hutchinson.

Hutchinson later told the newsmen that his orders had not been intended to stop the reporters, only the photographers.

Since the trial presumably is public, Hutchinson directed the court reporter to read a transcript of remarks of court members as the creek and march area was examined.

FARM BARTER NIXED

House Rejects Soviet Trade

WASHINGTON (INS)—The House rejected Wednesday President Eisenhower's request for authority to barter American farm surpluses for strategic materials from Soviet satellite nations.

The White House proposal was turned down, 92 to 62, on an amendment by Rep. Thomas Dodd (D-Conn.), which reaffirmed congressional opposition to trade with Russia or her satellites.

Under the defeated measure, the State Department would have bartered surplus wheat, dairy products, rice and other farm commodities with all iron curtain nations except Russia, Red China and North Korea.

The controversy over trade with the Communist bloc appeared certain to be ironed out in a House-Senate conference since the Senate already has approved the move.

Both Parties

During nearly four hours of spirited debate, the administration plan was sharply attacked from both sides of the political aisle.

Dodd argued that it was "another step down the road toward cynical complacency" in America's attitude toward the communists.

Rep. Walter Judd (R-Minn.), told the House the legislation would "break the spirit" of those fighting communism behind the Iron Curtain.

The House was warned by Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) that "there isn't any way that is known to man to get this food to the people without going through the communist governments."

Gifts Already

Agriculture Committee chairman Harold Cooley (D-NC) pointed out, however, that the government already has authority to give farm surpluses to people in Iron Curtain nations. He declared it was foolish for America to be able to give the food away and not to be able to barter it for strategic minerals and materials.

In turning down the barter plan, the house appeared ready to accept another administration proposal. This would boost the amount that the government can spend on foreign currency transactions from one and a half billion dollars to three billion.

This program provides that farm surpluses can be sold abroad for the currencies of individual nations, allowing countries with dollar shortages can obtain U. S. food.

Train Rolls Into Bumper; 34 Hurt

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (P)—A commuter train with some 350 passengers aboard hit a bumper guard at the Pennsylvania Railroad's Exchange Place terminal Wednesday injuring 34 persons, few seriously.

The Pennsylvania train from Bayhead Junction, N. J., banged into the guard without warning, sending standing travelers sprawling.

The Jersey City Medical Center treated 17 persons for shock, abrasions and minor bruises and discharged them.

Police said the engineer, John Walsh, 59, of Elmhurst, N. Y., apparently miscalculated the position of the bumper.

Today's Chuckle

"Every time you see a pretty girl," the wife complained, "you seem to forget that you are married."

"On the contrary, my dear," replied the husband, "nothing brings home the fact with so much force."

Farmers In Big Area Report 100% Damage

Corn Reported Cut Off Near Ground

By DEL HARDING
Star Staff Writer

DORCHESTER, Neb. — Slashing hail cut corn to within six inches of the ground Wednesday afternoon in a large strip of Saline County.

Farmers termed it "the worst hail storm we've ever seen." Hailstones were reported in many fields. Corn looked as though a giant knife had slashed through the fields of many farms.

Two of the hardest hit farms were owned by William Schmidt, four miles southwest of Dorchester, and by Richard Eigsti, three miles west of Dorchester.

125 Acres Lost

Schmidt said more than 125 acres of his corn was a total loss. The wind blew down a windmill tower on the Schmidt farm, badly damaged a cornshed and broke windows in the house. The Charles Haas and Dan Sutzman farms nearby were also hit hard.

Heaviest damage appeared to be about four miles east of a line from Friend to Swanton. Western reported only light rain and no hail damage in that area.

One hundred per cent crop losses were reported in fields south of Wilber and near Swanton. Hail and about 1.25 inches of rain were reported two miles southwest of DeWitt—east of Swanton.

Much Insured

Many of the damaged corn fields in the Wilber area were reportedly covered by insurance.

Saline County Agent Harold Vandieriet said the storm followed a northwest to southeast path. Hail damage was the worst, he said, in a four-mile strip tapering to a less severe three to four mile width on either side.

Other farms with heavy losses included those of H. H. Duchek, Frank Papek and Frank Zoubek, all south of Dorchester.

Leonard Tysler of Wilber reported 100 per cent damage to corn on his farm four and a half miles west of town. He estimated the hail covered a two-mile strip west of Wilber.

Corn Total Loss

Emil Jelinek, who farms three miles west of Wilber, said his irrigated corn is a total loss and his sorghums were badly damaged.

The ground was still covered with ice three hours after it began hailing, Jelinek said.

The hail, about the size of hen's eggs, was accompanied by about .30 inch of rain, he said.

Winds also broke limbs from trees and took shingles from buildings, he said.

Jelinek said he believed corn on a number of farms west of his was 90 to 100 per cent loss.

Sorghum Damaged

Sorghum also was badly damaged, he said, but since it is in an earlier stage than corn some of it may still grow.

Rainfall in some of the hail-hit area amounted to 1.75 inches, according to J. J. Novak, Wilber banker.

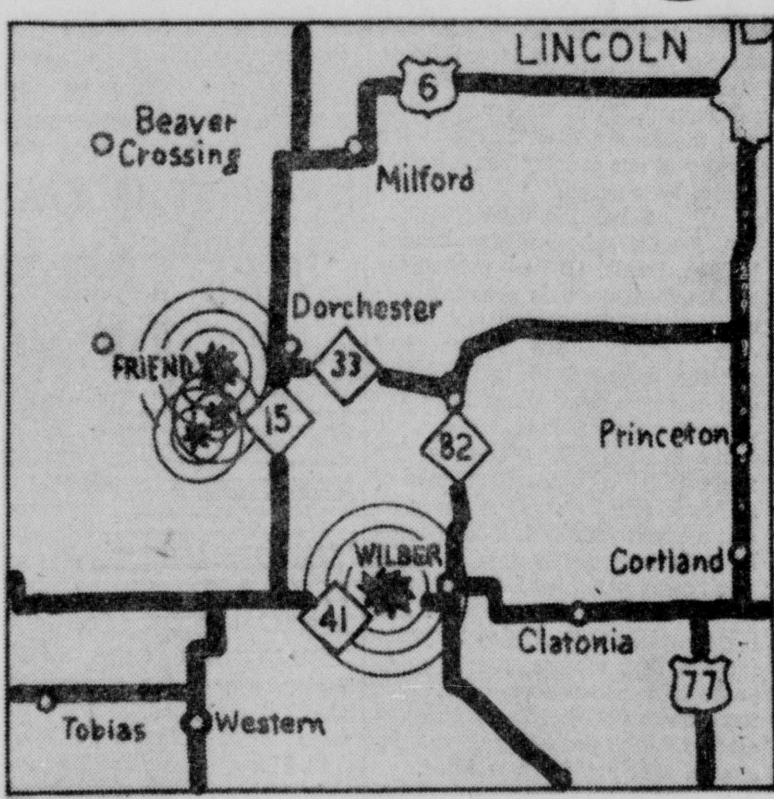

Other farmers reporting near 100 per cent corn crop damage in the Wilber area included Kenneth Reid, James Tachovsky, Elmer Ourecky, Irvin Javorsky and Tom Cantrell.

In an area three miles east of Friend hailstones inflicted heavy damage on crops on the farm of George Kohout Jr. Considerable wind and a heavy rain accompanied the hailstorm there.

Lightning Kills Oxford Farmer

HOLDREGE, Neb. (P)—Melvin R. Hunt, 33, was killed while cultivating milo on his farm south of Oxford during a severe electrical storm. Lightning apparently hit the umbrella of his tractor.

The tractor and the body were found in a ditch by neighbors who launched a search after Hunt failed to come back to his home for lunch. Hunt's widow and a son and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hunt of Edison, survive.

HAIL LASHES SALINE COUNTY CORNFIELDS

Hail cut off cornstalks, leaving many fields a total loss, in areas circled on this map, south and west of Wilber. The area between the circles and south of Wilber also was hit. (Star Map.)

Rainfall, With Light Hail, Hits Some State Points

A heavy rainfall, with some hail, splashed Lincoln early Wednesday evening. Various totals in the city ranged up to .75 inch precipitation.

Rain was scattered in Lancaster County. Cheney reported .50 inch early in the evening, but no rain reportedly fell at most other county points.

Showers were reported at Omaha, Hastings, Grand Island, York, Norfolk, Crete, David City and Nebraska City late Wednesday afternoon and early evening.

Omaha Municipal Airport reported .08 inch rain, but the Weather Bureau estimated that a heavier rainfall had occurred in most parts of the city.

Some .50 inch fell in the Grand Island-Hastings area, accompanied by slight hail. The Grand Island airport reported .14 inch for the day, resulting from two afternoon showers. About .50 inch fell at the Hastings television center and a trace fell in the city.

York reported .09 inch and Norfolk had .22 inch with some hail Wednesday evening. David City reported .01 inch, Nebraska City had .15 inch and Crete had a slight shower.

Early evening showers were also reported at Imperial and North Platte.

Hail struck in York County Wednesday afternoon, causing about a 50 per cent crop loss three and a half miles northwest of Benedict.

Benedict had .30 inch of rain and Waco, southeast of Benedict, had .50 inch. Some hail also damaged crops around Waco.

An airplane pilot reported sighting a funnel cloud that appeared to touch ground 15 miles southeast of Grand Island early in the afternoon, but the telephone operator at Giltner said the cloud did not reach the earth.

The storm brought hail which resulted in a 50 per cent crop loss south of Giltner. Rainfall in Giltner amounted to .50 inch.

Hail stripped some crops in an area two miles south of Wellfleet during a two inch rainfall, according to a report received from Medicine Creek Dam.

Many other points in the state had light showers and thunderstorms, but southeast Nebraska had the most severe storms.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were expected to continue in the eastern and southwestern portions of the state Thursday and in eastern Nebraska Thursday night.

Little temperature change was expected. Lincoln had the state high of 89 Wednesday. The low was 51 at Chadron.

Rainfall figures for Tuesday night and Wednesday:

Lincoln .75, Ashland .15, Auburn .18, Benning .07, Central City .07, Curtis .04, Decatur .04, Giltner .04, Grand Island .14, Hastings .12, Holdrege .12, Imperial .12, Kearney .12, Medicine Creek Dam .12, Nebraska City .12, Norfolk .12, North Platte .12, Omaha .12, Scottsbluff .12, Sidney .12, Union .12, Waco .12, Wellfleet .12, York .12.

Anti-Narcotics Bill Is Signed

DEATH PENALTY POSSIBLE ... For Peddlers

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower Wednesday signed the new anti-narcotics bill making possible the death penalty for sale of heroin to a juvenile.

The measure, increasing penalties for smuggling or peddling narcotics, also requires that all heroin, including that in possession of hospitals and doctors, be turned over to the Treasury Department within four months.

According to House and Senate committees which drafted the bill, Heroin has no place in legitimate medical practice. A Senate committee, Sen. Welker (R-Iowa), told the Senate that "never in the history of our country has a heroin addict been cured."

Tough Penalties

A Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Daniel (D-Tex) pushed for the toughest possible penalties, declaring that "whenever and wherever penalties are severe and strictly enforced, drug addiction and narcotic trafficking have decreased proportionally."

The bill provides at least a life sentence for a peddler convicted of selling heroin to a person under 18, and a death penalty if it is ordered by a jury.

It boosts penalties for all importation or sale of narcotics, including marijuana, to five to 20 years for the first offense and 10 to 40 years for subsequent ones, plus fines up to $20,000. The legislation also prohibits probation or suspension of sentence for a violator.

Sharon Kay Ritchie To Wed Singer?

DENVER (AP)—The Rocky Mountain News said Wednesday that the reigning Miss America, Sharon Kay Ritchie, and singer-golfer Don Cherry, will formally announce their engagement here Sunday.

The News quoted no source for its information, but said the engagement would be announced by Miss Ritchie's parents.

The dark-haired beauty queen's father, F. A. Ritchie of Grand Island, Neb., denied the report when reached by telephone at his home, saying:

"I have to deny it, because I don't know anything about it."

Rumors of a romance between the two have been persistently denied by both parties. They met earlier this year while they both were appearing at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev.

Miss Ritchie, who won the Miss America title last September as the Miss Colorado entrant, is scheduled to return here from New York Friday to crown a new state titlist Sunday.

Cherry, an excellent amateur golfer and a member of the U.S. Walker Cup team, began his rise to fame with the Jan Garber orchestra, later recording several hits for Columbia Records Co.

Girl's Gang Fracas Fatal

NEW YORK (AP)—A 12-year-old girl was held Wednesday in the fatal stabbing of a teen-age member of a rival girl gang in a Brooklyn subway station.

The victim, Evelyn Orr, staggered nearly a block from the subway station before she collapsed and died on the street Tuesday night.

Police said members of the two girl gangs had engaged in an argument but that it was not actually a gang war. All the girls involved were Negroes.

Seventeen girls from both gangs were arrested. All, including the slayer, were charged with juvenile delinquency.

Taylor-Wilding Union On Rocks

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Elizabeth Taylor, one of the screen's most beautiful actresses, and her husband, Michael Wilding, announced Wednesday they have agreed on a trial separation in an effort to settle marital difficulties.

The couple said, however, that a divorce was not contemplated at this time.

Miss Taylor, 24, will leave Hollywood in about 10 days to go on location in Kentucky for the filming of "Raintree County."

Wilding, 20 years her senior, leaves for Sweden this weekend to make a picture and will be gone two or three months.

The couple was married in London in 1952. They have two children—Michael Howard, 3, and Christopher Edward, 1.

—Steel Strike— Ike Warning Is Denied By Mediator

... Talks Again Fail

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Eisenhower administration Wednesday "bluntly warned the steel companies and the steelworkers union to settle their wage contract differences within a week," the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said Wednesday night.

The newspaper said the administration's sudden action in the nationwide basic steel strike came after a meeting in Washington Wednesday between the President and his top economic advisors.

Joseph F. Finnegan, head of the Federal Mediation Service, said he "knows of no arbitrary deadline being set by anyone."

Finnegan, who attended the White House meeting, said, "The whole tenor of the talks was toward solving the difficulty under normal collective bargaining procedure."

Talk of Threat

The Post-Gazette said there was an "implied threat" that President Eisenhower would invoke the Taft-Hartley Act if necessary to get the 650,000 striking members of the United Steelworkers back on the job.

Negotiators trying to end the walkout Wednesday held their longest meeting since the 18-day-old walkout began but failed to make any apparent progress.

$1.1 Billion Still Owed U.S. From Lend-Lease Deals

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress Wednesday foreign governments still owe this country $1,168,000,000 on World War II lend-lease accounts.

In a report required under a 1941 Act of Congress, Eisenhower said repayment of lend-lease aid was "in general, satisfactorily made" during the calendar year 1955. However, he said 16 millions of the remainder was past due.

He noted that Russia returned in 1955 a group of 27 lend-lease naval vessels on which agreement was reached in December, 1954, and an additional 82 similar vessels under agreement made in May, 1955. Negotiations were still under way on the return of another 59 naval craft.

Lincolnite Sentenced On Probation Violation

Leslie Smith Jr., 18, of Lincoln was sentenced to an indeterminate Reformatory term of one to three years in Lancaster District Court after pleading guilty to an information for revocation of probation.

Smith had been placed on two years' probation April 23, 1955, for burglary. He admitted probation violation in connection with a burglary attempt at a Oketo, Kan., filling station last month.

'Scared' Cop Scales Tower, Saves Tot, 3

ELKHART, Ind. (AP)—A 3-year-old Chicago girl was rescued from near the top of a 60-foot television antenna by a 6-foot-5, 225-pound policeman.

Harriet Skom, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Skom, climbed the tripod steel antenna at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel New, where she and her mother had gone for a brief visit.

Missing the child, the women went to look for her. They heard her answer when they called. But they couldn't see her. Finally, Mrs. New looked toward the antenna and saw her "frozen" near the top.

Sheds Coat, Gun

Husky Robert Raeder, first officer on the scene, shed his coat and gun belt and climbed the lattice-work tower to bring the child down just as a fire department ladder truck roared up.

Harriet wasn't the only one who was scared. Patrolman Raeder said he's never been that high before, and would never go up the antenna at his own home.

Yank Hunt Hampered By 'Curtain'

... State Dept. Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said Wednesday it has been handicapped in efforts to liberate Americans believed held in Russia because of difficulty in penetrating the Iron Curtain.

Deputy Undersecretary Robert Murphy told Congress "vigorous diplomatic action" is taken whenever circumstantial evidence is sufficient to indicate the Soviets actually are illegally detaining American citizens.

Murphy said the government is working on cases possibly involving Army personnel in addition to the airmen it has charged Russia with holding incommunicado.

Closed Session

Murphy was called to a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees to relate details of the note delivered to Moscow on Monday accusing the Soviets of secretly holding a number of U.S. fliers.

He said in a statement released after the joint meeting that the United States hopes publicity about the note will encourage persons repatriated from Russia to come forward and "give us additional information."

Ike Signs Aid Law

... Despite Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday signed legislation authorizing over four billion dollars in foreign military and economic aid this fiscal year.

The amount is about one billion dollars less than the President had requested to bolster the free nations of the world against communism.

The bill appropriates no money for the year which started July 1 but sets the terms and ceilings on the program. The House has passed separate legislation providing $3,425,120,000 in actual funds and the Senate Appropriations Committee has upped this to $4,105,420,000—some $9,655,000 below the authorization.

A Senate fight was expected later this week over efforts to bring the Senate figure down to the House total. Some senators have said they will renew their efforts to wipe out aid for Yugoslavia.

Crackdown On Nickel Promised

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government Wednesday announced a crackdown on "black market" operators in defense-vital nickel which an official said may send 13 cases to the Justice Department for prosecution.

Horace B. McCoy, deputy administrator of the Business and Defense Services Administration, declined to name publicly in a Senate Preparedness subcommittee hearing any of the individuals and firms whose "willful violations" he said his investigators have uncovered.

Public identification, he said, will have to wait until after the Justice Department has "processed" the cases, none of which has yet been officially sent up for prosecution.

600,000 to 1.2 Million Lbs.

McCoy said the charges stem from a BDSA investigation of what happened to between 600,000 and 1,200,000 pounds of nickel "that might have been illegally claimed for defense purposes" by firms and persons who bought it. He said the cases all lie "in the area of the plating industry."

Sen. Stennis (D-Miss), the subcommittee chairman, asked for "your assurance that you are going to move on in" to prosecute every detected violation. McCoy said that will be done.

Sen. Johnson Says: 'Senate Passed More Bills, Nominations Than 80th-83rd'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) Wednesday credited the Senate with having "passed more bills and acted upon more presidential nominations than any of the preceding four congresses."

His statement accompanied a chart prepared by the Senate Democratic Policy Committee, which he heads. It tabulated time in session, bills passed and other data for the 80th, 81st, 82nd, 83rd and present 84th sessions of Congress.

The check showed that the Senate had acted on 2,607 measures and 81,341 presidential nominations during the present Congress through July 16 while meeting 1,225 hours and 55 minutes on 214 days since January 1955.

However, the second sessions of three of the four preceding congresses lasted until December or January, while the present Congress hopes to wind up this month.

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Students set fire to a bus and stoned nine others in protest against increased fares. Some passengers were injured.

The San Marcos Student Federation called the strike to protest the election of Aurelio Miro Quesada as university president.

GROUP PASSES BILL TO BAN JURY LISTENING

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Judiciary Committee Wednesday approved a bill to prohibit eavesdropping on juries, with penalties up to one year imprisonment and $1,000 fine for violators.

The bill, already passed by the Senate, now goes to the House. It resulted from disclosure last year that federal jury deliberations had been recorded with hidden microphones, as part of a research project.

The Department of Justice recommended enactment of the bill, saying any invasion of the privacy of juries, "however well-intentioned" would inevitably stifle discussion and free exchange of ideas among jurors.

Anti-Narcotics Bill Is Signed

DEATH PENALTY POSSIBLE
... For Peddlers

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower Wednesday signed the new anti-narcotics bill making possible the death penalty for sale of heroin to a juvenile.

The measure, increasing penalties for smuggling or peddling narcotics, also requires that all heroin, including that in possession of hospitals and doctors, be turned over to the Treasury Department within four months.

According to House and Senate committees which drafted the bill, Heroin has no place in legitimate medical practice. A Senate committee member, Sen. Welker (R-Ida), told the Senate that "never in the history of our country has a heroin addict been cured."

Tough Penalties

A Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Daniel (D-Tex.) pushed for the toughest possible penalties, declaring that "whenever and wherever penalties are severe and strictly enforced, drug addiction and narcotic trafficking have decreased proportionately."

The bill provides at least a life sentence for a peddler convicted of selling heroin to a person under 18, and a death penalty if it is ordered by a jury.

It boosts penalties for all importation or sale of narcotics, including marijuana, to five to 20 years for the first offense and 10 to 40 years for subsequent ones, plus fines up to $20,000. The legislation also prohibits probation or suspension of sentence for a violator.

Sharon Kay Ritchie To Wed Singer?

DENVER (AP)—The Rocky Mountain News said Wednesday that the reigning Miss America, Sharon Kay Ritchie, and singer-golfer Don Cherry, will formally announce their engagement here Sunday.

The News quoted no source for its information, but said the engagement would be announced by Miss Ritchie's parents.

The dark-haired beauty queen's father, F. A. Ritchie of Grand Island, Neb., denied the report when reached by telephone at his home, saying:

"I have to deny it, because I don't know anything about it."

Rumors of a romance between the two have been persistently denied by both parties. They met earlier this year while they both were appearing at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev.

Miss Ritchie, who won the Miss America title last September as the Miss Colorado entrant, is scheduled to return here from New York Friday to crown a new state titlist Sunday.

Cherry, an excellent amateur golfer and a member of the U.S. Walker Cup team, began his rise to fame with the Jan Garber orchestra, later recording several hits for Columbia Records Co.

Girl's Gang Fracas Fatal

NEW YORK (AP)—A 12-year-old girl was held Wednesday in the fatal stabbing of a teen-age member of a rival girl gang in a Brooklyn subway station.

The victim, Evelyn Orr, staggered nearly a block from the subway station before she collapsed and died on the street Tuesday night.

Police said members of the two girl gangs had engaged in an argument but that it was not actually a gang war. All the girls involved were Negroes.

Seventeen girls from both gangs were arrested. All, including the slayer, were charged with juvenile delinquency.

A native of Moravia, Iowa, Gollaher was in business in Grand Island from 1923 until his retirement in 1954. He is survived by his widow.

Lincoln's shortest path to the proverbial "cooler" led right through the middle of Police Headquarters Wednesday evening, as the advertisement—

IN WEST GERMANY—

LIKE CINDERELLA, GI'S GET MIDNIGHT CURFEW

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—The U. S. Army, concerned over strong German blasts at "GI crime," tightened its reins on American soldiers Wednesday by invoking an order that enlisted men must be in their quarters by midnight six days a week.

Taylor-Wilding Union On Rocks

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Elizabeth Taylor, one of the screen's most beautiful actresses, and her handsome British husband, Michael Wilding, announced Wednesday they have agreed on a trial separation in an effort to ease marital difficulties.

The couple said, however, that a divorce was not contemplated at this time.

Miss Taylor, 24, will leave Hollywood in about 10 days to go on location in Kentucky for the filming of "Raintree County."

Wilding, 20 years her senior, leaves for Sweden this weekend to make a picture and will be gone two or three months.

The couple was married in London in 1952. They have two children—Michael Howard, 3, and Christopher Edward, 1.

2 Indicted In Kidnaping Hoax

NEW YORK (AP)—A grand jury Wednesday indicted two accused of trying to extort a $5,000 ransom from the parents of kidnaped Peter Weinberger.

The pair, Gordon T. Rowell, 24, and Robert F. Giebler, 26, both of Queens, were held without bail after they pleaded innocent of charges of attempted extortion and providing false information.

Surviving are five children.

—Steel Strike— Ike Warning Is Denied By Mediator

... Talks Again Fail

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Eisenhower administration Wednesday "bluntly warned the steel companies and the steelworkers union to settle their wage contract differences within a week," the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said Wednesday night.

The newspaper said the administration's sudden action in the nationwide basic steel strike came after a meeting in Washington Wednesday between the President and his top economic advisors.

Joseph F. Finnegan, head of the Federal Mediation Service, said he "knows of no arbitrary deadline being set by anyone."

Finnegan, who attended the White House meeting, said, "The whole tenor of the talks was toward solving the difficulty under normal collective bargaining procedure."

Talk of Threat

The Post-Gazette said there was an "implied threat" that President Eisenhower would invoke the Taft-Hartley Act if necessary to get the 650,000 striking members of the United Steelworkers back on the job.

Negotiators trying to end the walkout Wednesday held their longest meeting since the 16-day-old walkout began but failed to make any apparent progress.

$1.1 Billion Still Owed U.S. From Lend-Lease Deals

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress Wednesday foreign governments still owe this country $1,168,000,000 on World War II lend-lease accounts.

In a report required under a 1941 Act of Congress, Eisenhower said repayment of lend-lease aid was "in general, satisfactorily made" during the calendar year 1955. However, he said 16 millions of the remainder was past due.

He noted that Russia returned in 1955 a group of 27 lend-lease naval vessels on which agreement was reached in December, 1954, and an additional 62 similar vessels under agreement made in May, 1955. Negotiations were still under way on the return of another 59 naval craft.

Lincolnite Sentenced On Probation Violation

Leslie Smith Jr., 18, of Lincoln was sentenced to an indeterminate Reformatory term of one to three years in Lancaster District Court after pleading guilty to an information for revocation of probation.

Smith had been placed on two years' probation April 23, 1955, for burglary. He admitted probation violation in connection with a burglary attempt at a Oketo, Kan., filling station last month.

'Scared' Cop Scales Tower, Saves Tot, 3

ELKHART, Ind. (AP)—A 3-year-old Chicago girl was rescued from near the top of a 60-foot television antenna by a 6-foot-5, 225-pound policeman.

Harriet Skom, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Skom, climbed the tripod steel antenna at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel New, where she and her mother had gone for a brief visit.

Missing the child, the women went to look for her. They heard her answer when they called. But they couldn't see her. Finally, Mrs. New looked toward the antenna and saw her "frozen" near the top.

Sheds Coat, Gun

Husky Robert Raeder, first officer on the scene, shed his coat and gun belt and climbed the lattice-work tower to bring the child down just as a fire department ladder truck roared up.

Harriet wasn't the only one who was scared. Patrolman Raeder said he's never been that high before, and would never go up the antenna at his own home.

Yank Hunt Hampered By 'Curtain'

... State Dept. Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said Wednesday it has been handicapped in efforts to liberate Americans believed held in Russia because of difficulty in penetrating the Iron Curtain.

Deputy Undersecretary Robert Murphy told Congress "vigorous diplomatic action" is taken whenever circumstantial evidence is sufficient to indicate the Soviets actually are illegally detaining American citizens.

Murphy said the government is working on cases possibly involving Army personnel in addition to the airmen it has charged Russia with holding incommunicado.

Closed Session

Murphy was called to a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees to relate details of the note delivered to Moscow on Monday accusing the Soviets of secretly holding a number of U.S. fliers.

He said in a statement released after the joint meeting that the United States hopes publicity about the note will encourage persons repatriated from Russia to come forward and "give us additional information."

Ike Signs Aid Law

... Despite Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday signed legislation authorizing over four billion dollars in foreign military and economic aid this fiscal year.

The amount is about one billion dollars less than the President had requested to bolster the free nations of the world against communism.

The bill appropriates no money for the year which started July 1 but sets the terms and ceilings on the program. The House has passed separate legislation providing $3,425,120,000 in actual funds and the Senate Appropriations Committee has added this to $4,105,420,000—some $9,655,000 below the authorization.

A Senate fight was expected later this week over efforts to bring the Senate figure down to the House total. Some senators have said they will renew their efforts to wipe out aid for Yugoslavia.

Crackdown On Nickel Promised

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government Wednesday announced a crackdown on "black market" operators in defense-vital nickel which an official said may send 13 cases to the Justice Department for prosecution.

Horace B. McCoy, deputy administrator of the Business and Defense Services Administration, declined to name publicly in a Senate Preparedness subcommittee hearing any of the individuals and firms whose "willful violations" he said his investigators have uncovered.

Public identification, he said, will have to wait until after the Justice Department has "processed" the cases, none of which has yet been officially sent up for prosecution.

600,000 to 1.2 Million Lbs.

McCoy said the charges stem from a BDSA investigation of what happened to between 600,000 and 1,200,000 pounds of nickel "that might have been illegally claimed for defense purposes" by firms and persons who bought it. He said the cases all lie "in the area of the plating industry."

Sen. Stennis (D-Miss), the subcommittee chairman, asked for "your assurance that you are going to move on in" to prosecute every detected violation. McCoy said that will be done.

Sen. Johnson Says:

'Senate Passed More Bills, Nominations Than 80th-83rd'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) Wednesday credited the Senate with having "passed more bills and acted upon more presidential nominations than any of the preceding four congresses."

His statement accompanied a chart prepared by the Senate Democratic Policy Committee, which he heads. It tabulated time in session, bills passed and other data for the 80th, 81st, 82nd, 83rd and present 84th sessions of Congress.

The check showed that the Senate had acted on 2,607 measures and 81,341 presidential nominations during the present Congress through July 16 while meeting 1,225 hours and 55 minutes on 214 days since January 1955.

However, the second sessions of three of the four preceding congresses lasted until December or January, while the present Congress hopes to wind up this month.

Peruvian Students Burn Bus, Stone 9

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Students set fire to a bus and stoned nine others in protest against increased fares. Some passengers were injured.

At the University of San Marcos a group of law students used an automobile to break open the main gate of the institution which has been in the control of striking students for two months.

The San Marcos Student Federation called the strike to protest the election of Aurelio Miro Quesada as university president.

GROUP PASSES BILL TO BAN JURY LISTENING

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Judiciary Committee Wednesday approved a bill to prohibit eavesdropping on juries, with penalties dropping to one year imprisonment and $1,000 fine for violators.

The bill, already passed by the Senate, now goes to the House. It resulted from disclosure last year that federal jury deliberations had been recorded with hidden microphones, as part of a research project.

The Department of Justice recommended enactment of the bill, saying an invasion of the privacy of juries, "however well-intentioned" would inevitably stifle discussion and free exchange of ideas among jurors.

BOY NAMED MIKE WON'T HAVE TROUBLE, IOWA LADY WRITES

Boy's Sight Gone: He Has 50-50 CHANCE

By F. T. MACFEELEY
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Mike Sibole's eyesight was sacrificed Wednesday to give him a 50-50 chance of growing to manhood but in a world of darkness.

The surgeon who removed the 4-year-old boy's left eye Wednesday morning, asking to remain anonymous, said it is an even chance that with the eye and a large section of the optic nerve came all the cancer cells which have cost Mike both eyes.

And perhaps little Mike won't understand right away, but a letter from a Davenport, Ia., lady who lost her sight 54 years ago when she too was only 4, ought to be encouragement for him and his family.

Mrs. Jessie Marrero typed a letter to the lad, recalling that her 14-year-old brother and his friends were having a snowball fight when one of the missiles shattered a window and her eyes were showered with glass.

Mrs. Marrero related that the beautiful colors of the world she once knew remain with her.

"Being blind isn't an ending, but a beginning," she wrote. "It's beginning a full and rich life if you want to make it that way."

"A boy with a name like Mike won't have any trouble. The world will open as it always does for someone who wants it to."

"Your parents, if they are the sensible people they appear to be, will soon learn to accept your blindness and the sorrow that hangs so heavy on their hearts now will disappear as they see you adapting yourself to your new world."

"Yes, my hopes and my prayers are with you, Mike, on this day as you trustingly enter my world of darkness," Mrs. Marrero concluded. "Yet never fear, child, in the darkness we can see with our hearts, if not with our eyes."

The last thing Mike saw was a doctor in a green skull cap bending over to administer the ether at 7:55 a.m. The operation started at 8:10 and ended at 8:51.

Mike was a brave patient, the doctors reported. He didn't cry and he wasn't afraid.

He looked a little sleepy when he walked into Holiday House Hospital at 7:20, holding the hands of his mother, Mrs. James M. Sibole, and grandmother, Mrs. Henry Malone of Miami.

His father, the Rev. James M. Sibole, parked the car and then hurried into the small private hospital.

The Rev. Mr. Sibole has made arrangements for Mike to attend preschool training classes for blind children at Miami.

For the past few days his parents had taken Mike to various places in Florida, to the ocean and on outings so that he could enjoy his already fading sight as much as possible.

Pedestrian Hurt In Auto Accident

A fifty-two-year-old woman was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital Wednesday evening with apparent back injuries suffered in a car-pedestrian accident at 10th and South during the rainstorm.

Police identified the injured woman as Mrs. Malanaja Rullis, 2215 So. 14, and the car driver as Charles E. Sterner Jr., of 2621 So. 9.

Officers reported details of the accident were obscured by the fact that neither Mrs. Rullis nor her husband were fluent enough in English to make investigators understand what happened.

Sterner reported he thought his car hit something and he stopped to investigate. He then took Mrs. Rullis to the hospital.

Pan-Am Sessions Open In Panama

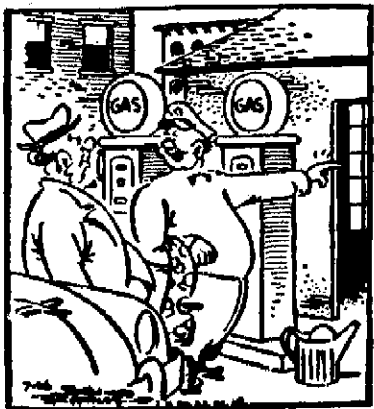

PANAMA (AP)—Diplomats of the 21 American republics gathered Wednesday to praise the inter-American system and discuss how to strengthen it.

President Eisenhower is due Friday to join other hemisphere presidents in ceremonies honoring South America's liberator, Simon Bolivar. They commemorate the first conference of American republics in Panama 130 years ago.

Pen Troubled

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Inmates of the Missouri Penitentiary whooped and hollered Wednesday night after a power failure plunged the prison into darkness.

Prison officials hoped to restore lights within a few hours, but apprehension was reported among residents of the area. The demonstration seemed well under control.

"Since the station across the street started using the Journal-Star Want Ads — I even buy my gas there!"

Sibole (left), and his grandmother, Mrs. Henry Malone (right), climbs the steps of Holiday House in Orlando, Fla., for surgery which claimed his sight. Clare Boothe Luce Leaves Saturday

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, U.S. Ambassador to Italy, will fly from Washington to Lisbon, Portugal, Saturday, for a three-week Mediterranean cruise before returning to her post in Rome.

Mrs. Luce has been in this country since May, recuperating from an illness attributed to arsenic dust and fumes from painted decorations on the ceiling of her bedroom in her Italian residence.

On the Mediterranean cruise, she is to be a guest aboard the yacht of Greek shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos.

May Quit Post In Fall

ROME (AP)—Nantas Salvalaggio, New York correspondent for the Rome newspaper, Il Giornale d'Italia, wrote Wednesday U.S. Ambassador Clare Booth Luce told him she would quit her Rome post in November.

He reported Mrs. Luce said changes were routine after an ambassador had been in a post for three or four years. Mrs. Luce has been assigned to Rome since May, 1953.

Estate Value Set At Near $140,000

The estate of Lucy Rockwood Hewitt, Lincoln resident who died Jan. 16, is valued at $139,718.57 by an inventory filed in Lancaster County Court.

Three parcels of Dawson County farmland totalling 320 acres were valued at $94,830.50. A Lincoln property was listed at $6,000. Jointly-owned property totalling $17,092.41, including $15,150 in government bonds. Cash in the Lexington State Bank at death was $21,305.66.

Bulk of the estate was left to nieces and nephews under a will filed for probate.

One Injured In Two-Car Collision

Two persons were taken to local hospitals early Wednesday evening after a two-car collision on north Cotner between 60th and R Streets. Both were released after examination and treatment.

The injury was sustained by Carroll I. Chilson, 27, of 1814 No. 68th St., who suffered a sprained right ankle.

LaVetta Boucher, 9, was released with no injuries. The girl was riding in a car driven by her father, Armand R. Boucher, 34, of 6231 Adams, which was in collision with the Chilson car on Cotner.

Carrier Planes Crash

STROMBOLI, Italy (AP)—Two U.S. Navy carrier-based Douglas dive bombers collided Wednesday and crashed on the shores of this volcanic Mediterranean island.

Italian authorities here said four men were killed. But a U.S. Navy spokesman at Naples said hours later he knew of only two casualties.

Far East HQ Shift To Korea

... STUMP COMMANDS

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Defense Department announced Wednesday that the U.S. Far Eastern Command headquarters in Tokyo will be abolished next July, and that the United Nations command will be shifted from Japan to Korea.

The direction of American forces in the Far East will be placed under Adm. Felix Stump, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet with headquarters at Pearl Harbor. Gen. L. L. Lemnitzer, presently both U.S. and U.N. commander in Tokyo, presumably will be designated U.N. commander only with headquarters at Seoul.

The sweeping retrenchment decision was announced amid speculation that a large reduction in U.S. strength in the Far East, possibly withdrawal of U.S. troops from Korea, may be involved in a three-year plan to reduce American armed forces by up to 800,000 men.

In another retrenchment, the Defense Department said that the U.S. Northeast Command now maintained in Newfoundland will be abolished Sept. 1. Responsibility for Northeast defense will be shifted to Gen. Earle E. Partridge, continental Air Defense commander at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Partridge will also assume responsibility for the air defense of Alaska, while Stump takes over direction of Alaskan sea defenses. The present joint command headquarters in Alaska will be maintained, however.

Stump, who last week was reappointed for another two years in office, was ordered to "provide support for United Nations' forces in Korea." Lemnitzer, who has been in office since June 5, 1953, loses his main operational command and the headquarters set up by Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo after World War II would be wiped out.

The statement said nothing about withdrawing troops from Japan, although the department has previously announced long-term plans for shifting these troops to Okinawa. More recent reports are that many of the troops in the Far East will be brought home to the U.S.

Real Sport

DENVER (INS)—Retired Denver Deputy Fire Chief Arthur J. Becker received a gift of trout from a businessman when he attended a fireman's convention at Durango, Colo. He was caught in a Colorado State Game and Fish Department road block as he returned home. Fined $41 plus $10 court costs for illegal possession of fish, Becker walked.

For the past few days his parents had taken Mike to various places in Florida, to the ocean and on outings so that he could enjoy his already fading sight as much as possible.

Pedestrian Hurt In Auto Accident

A fifty-two year old woman was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital Wednesday evening with apparent back injuries suffered in a car-pedestrian accident at 10th and South during the rainstorm.

Police identified the injured woman as Mrs. Melanaja Rullis, 2215 So. 14, and the car driver as Charles E. Sterner Jr., of 2621 So. 9.

Officers reported details of the accident were obscured by the fact that neither Mrs. Rullis nor her husband were fluent enough in English to make investigators understand what happened.

Sterner reported he thought his car hit something and he stopped to investigate. He then took Mrs. Rullis to the hospital.

Pen Troubled

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Inmates of the Missouri Penitentiary whooped and hollered Wednesday night after a power failure plunged the prison into darkness.

Prison officials hoped to restore lights with in a few hours, but apprehension was reported among residents of the area. The demonstration seemed well under control.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, U. S. Ambassador to Italy, will fly from Washington to Lisbon, Portugal, Saturday, for a three-week Mediterranean cruise before returning to her post in Rome.

Mrs. Luce has been in this country since May, recuperating from an illness attributed to arsenic dust and fumes from painted decorations on the ceiling of her bedroom in her Italian residence.

On the Mediterranean cruise, she is to be a guest aboard the yacht of Greek shipping magnate Stavros Niarchos.

One Injured In Two-Car Collision

Two persons were taken to local hospitals early Wednesday evening after a two-car collision on north Cotner between 60th and R Streets. Both were released after examination and treatment.

The only injury was sustained by Carroll I. Chilson, 27, of 1814 No. 68th St., who suffered a sprained right ankle.

LaVetta Boucher, 9, was released with no injuries.

The girl was riding in a car driven by her father, Armand R. Boucher, 34, of 6231 Adams, which was in collision with the Chilson car on Cotner.

Carrier Planes Crash

STROMBOLI, Italy (AP)—Two U. S. Navy carrier-based Douglas dive bombers collided Wednesday and crashed on the shores of this volcanic Mediterranean island.

Italian authorities here said four men were killed. But a U. S. Navy spokesman at Naples said hours later he knew of only two casualties.

Far East HQ Shift To Korea

... STUMP COMMANDS

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Defense Department announced Wednesday that the U. S. Far Eastern Command headquarters in Tokyo will be abolished next July, and that the United Nations' command will be shifted from Japan to Korea.

The direction of American forces in the Far East will be placed under Adm. Felix Stump, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet with headquarters at Pearl Harbor. Gen. L. L. Lemnitzer, presently both U. S. and U. N. commander in Tokyo, presumably will be designated U. N. commander only with headquarters at Seoul.

The sweeping retrenchment decision was announced amid speculation that a large reduction in U. S. strength in the Far East, possibly withdrawal of U. S. troops from Korea, may be involved in a three-year plan to reduce American armed forces by up to 800,000 men.

In another retrenchment, the Defense Department said that the U. S. Northeast Command now maintained in Newfoundland will be abolished Sept. 1. Responsibility for Northeast defense will be shifted to Gen. Earle E. Partridge, continental Air Defense commander at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Partridge will also assume responsibility for the air defense of Alaska, while Stump takes over direction of Alaskan sea defenses. The present joint command headquarters in Alaska will be maintained, however.

Stump, who last week was reappointed for another two years in office, was ordered to "provide support for United Nations' forces in Korea." Lemnitzer, who has been in office since June 5, 1955, loses his main operational command and the headquarters set up by Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo after World War II would be wiped out.

The statement said nothing about withdrawing troops from Japan, although the department has previously announced long-term plans for shifting these troops to Okinawa. More recent reports are that many of the troops in the Far East will be brought home to the U. S.

DENVER (INS)—Retired Denver Deputy Fire Chief Arthur J. Becker received a gift of trout from a businessman when he attended a fireman's convention at Durango, Colo. He was caught in a Colorado State Game and Fish Department road block as he returned home. Fined $41 plus $10 court costs for illegal possession of fish, Becker wailed:

Bound To Succeed

At least 200 Nebraskans are expected to give their full efforts today to Governor Victor Anderson's conference and workshop for greater highway safety.

It would be an understatement to say that the conference is timely. Such emphasis on life saving would be appropriate every hour of every day. It will remain that way until every preventable accident, every unnecessary fatality has been ended. That terminal date may be well in mind but the moment has not yet come when it can be fixed.

Nebraska nods approval to the governor's assertion that his safety conference is not to be one for a proper number of well turned speeches and then home. He expects real direction, constructive focus and works of substance.

It is a difficult assignment after these years

of effort and thought to produce innovations in the approach to safety or to discover some magic short cut. But the governor has achieved his primary object by the fact of the conference itself. When 200 gather together they lend new significance to a subject the results of which move among others by chain reaction. And it is a move in the right direction. While the 200, by what they do and say, may cause the saving of a life or more, the principle expanded to include all of Nebraska's more than a million residents would make short work of the problem of avoidable accidents. The governor's conference will attain its highest effect if each of its conferees form a nucleus—an infectious nucleus—of more strict traffic behavior in each of their communities. That is the secondary reaction must be desired.

Promotion For Smith

In the mail Wednesday was a letter from the Regional Forester of the United States Forest Service telling of the promotion of Russell K. Smith, representative for Nebraska and Kansas with offices in the Federal Building in Lincoln to a post of greater responsibility in the office of the chief of the Forest Service in the national capital. He is to become chief of the Forest Insect Control Section in Washington.

Although a promotion so well deserved and so richly earned nevertheless it is with a tug of regret that we learn of Mr. Smith's transfer. He has been such an inspiring, useful forester, a man of highest qualifications and of deepest devotion to the job whatever demands it places upon him. We first knew him at Halsey where a mutual interest in the Halsey Forest strengthened a friendship which grew with the years. He performed yeoman service at Halsey. Then he came to Lincoln and the opportunity to visit with him increased. In his new job, which includes responsibility for leadership in the protection of forests from insect damage throughout the United States, a post calling for particular aptitudes, training and experience in a very technical important sense, it will be with a feeling of pride and satisfaction to know that Russ Smith will be on the job.

We have a deep abiding admiration for the men in the Forestry Service. They live in the open with the inspiration of nature to walk with them day and night, a dedicated group of men.

Succeeding Mr. Smith will be Harry P. Gaylor, of Durango, Colorado, staff assistant to the forest supervisor of the San Juan National Forest. Since 1930 he has had the benefit of wide experience in various forests in several states of the region as ranger, assistant forest supervisor and as staff assistant. In 1935 he served as assistant CCC administrator in Nebraska.

Going Which Way?

Ever since the late Sen. Hugh Butler tossed a large-sized monkey wrench into former Nebraska Gov. Val Peterson's understandable hopes for a cabinet post on the Eisenhower team, we confess to a certain measure of sympathy for Val.

Actually instead of a cabinet post he wound up playing the deep outfield on Ike's team—freely so deep indeed that he seemed to be outside the park. As director of Civilian Defense—as tough an assignment as any man has faced—it has been former Gov. Val Peterson's responsibility to get the American people all heated up and interested in something which for one reason or another they have not been too keen about.

Val can stake claim to having been one of the rooster's tootin' original Eisenhower men. The late Bob Taft had no part in Pete's plan. Taft on the other hand was Butler's idol and carried this state against Ike in the presidential preferential primary of 1952, thanks to the Butler organization.

Now an Omaha paper reports that the former Nebraska governor may achieve cabinet rank in the job he holds. Peterson had a three-and-a-half-page single-spaced letter (undoubtedly written by Sherman Adams) emphasizing the importance of the Civilian Defense job. In addition, the President had Mr. Peterson in to talk things over. Now, if Val tumbles for that line of chatter he doesn't deserve any more sympathy.

The head of Civilian Defense can call upon the American people to get up on their toes and understand it is their lives he is talking about, but the real roadblock he faces grows out of the campaign slogan the Republican national chairman, Len Hall, and his board of strategy have chosen for the 1956 presidential campaign. It is "peace and prosperity." Who is going to get bug-eyed over civilian defense when they are given unwavering assurance that the re-election of Ike and Dick means four years more of peace and prosperity? You can't have it both ways—or can you?

Forgotten Poultry

It is one of those inexplicable things that the nation's pure food and drug efforts—so effective in so many ways—have neglected for years the field of poultry.

Approximately 75 per cent of poultry processed in this county lacks federal inspection at the packing plants and it is claimed that 25 per cent of all cases of food poisoning results. It is not that there has been no legislation on the subject, but that there have been a variety of laws which have formed a patchwork rather than a practical preventive structure.

It was to correct this situation and to bring as much safety to poultry as to the red meats that a bill was introduced in the present Congress. As a measure it is one of those numerous ones seldom heard of and too often lightly regarded. But with a national record of inspection inadequacy the poultry measure is one that deserves prompt and careful consideration.

Nebraska two years ago strengthened its egg law because of sagging markets. The tighter restrictions proved less onerous than expected and the benefits were substantial. It is probable that a better federal law on poultry will not only grant more protection to the consumer but aid the industry at the same time.

Ill-Fated Yellow

Most colors sort of go their own way but yellow has got involved with people and is living perilously. It was long ago adopted by butter makers who thought it gave their product a more tempting look. The margarine people waged war for years with the butter makers and finally won out and their product is now yellow. The last we've heard is that the lard people, always strong for white, have taken a hand in the game. They are now coming out with yellow lard and the margarine and oil shortening people are as mad about it as the butter people were mad at them.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Though at this time of year Washington is hot and murky, we can well imagine that Georgia's Senator Walter George is having the time of his life. The very considerable burdens of a seat in the United States Senate, in his case a seat enhanced by the additional burdens of long seniority, are drawing to a close. He is not a candidate for re-election. He is retiring voluntarily although the possibility of defeat was said to loom darkly had he made up his mind to seek re-election with a much younger, much more active man, Governor Herman Talmadge slated to oppose him. But for the first time in his long punishing legislative career extending nearly over half a century he does not have to give a thought to re-election. He is stepping down swathed in honors bestowed upon him by his colleagues.

If the truth could be known we imagine that one of the happiest days in the life of a member of Congress is that hour when he reaches the conclusion he has had enough. Some of them do. More of them do not retire voluntarily. In the neighboring state of Kansas, able, distinguished Cliff Hope, who is the minority ranking member of the House Committee on Agriculture, is quitting after 14 terms in the House without a break, evidence of the high esteem in which he is held by the people of his district. It may be difficult in the beginning to be free of the treadmill which membership in Congress has become but there comes that time when there must be a certain measure of happiness in relinquishing the post. Not too many months ago one of the most able members in the Senate told us that in his judgment the one factor contributing most to senatorial mediocrity was the fear of meeting up with defeat. Much more to the point in George's case is that a man classed by his colleagues as of most conservative bend at the close of his career, is anything but a conservative.

The reader will discover George devoting the closing hours of his senatorial career to a spirited, determined fight to revise Social Security along more generous lines in its benefits for women. And one of Washington's more distinguished commentators pointed out earlier in the week that George had thrown his voice and his prestige in the fight for public power against the campaign of the private utilities. These hours then must be most satisfying to one who has served so many years in the upper branch of Congress.

During the close in an official sense of a long outstanding legislative career, Senator George in these days of spirited senatorial discussion may have made one great contribution of comfort to the American people. He told his colleagues that these people who stand rigidly against change—he was speaking of a single group in the debate over expansion of Social Security—in the end might invite the very change they opposed. We are moving ahead. We will continue to do so. There may be times when as a people we shall crave an opportunity to rest, to consolidate our positions, to mark time for the next advance in terms of social responsibility, but because we do hold human life and human progress in such high regard we shall always move forward although the occasions may arise when marking time tempts us. George can retire so happy in the knowledge that the closing days of his congressional career were spent in behalf of liberal causes.

It is a very gratifying thing to grow old in the service—even more gratifying to grow old gracefully in the image that the march onward must also be upward and never backward.

Security Question Raised By Panama

WASHINGTON. — Some of the most wanted men in the Western hemisphere will be the potential "targets for today" at the Conference of Presidents of the American Republics, which President Eisenhower is attending this week end.

These president - dictators are "wanted" by gun-toting exiles from their respective countries, and security agents are worried sick over the possibility of an incident. Never before in history have so many presidents gathered together in one place.

Among the most "wanted" presidents are Trujillo of Santo Domingo, Somoza of Nicaragua, Perez Jimenez of Venezuela, and Rojas Pinilla of Colombia.

These dictators are responsible for the assassination of many thousands of people, and avenging relatives and political supporters may be lying in wait for them, virtually on the banks of Uncle Sam's Panama canal.

Those who talk about "security measures" in the Republic of Panama are reminded that the President of Panama, Col. Jose A. Remon, was shot to death like a sitting duck in the very presence of secret police and bodyguards at the Juan Franco race track in Panama on Jan. 2, 1955.

The Panamanians were unable to protect their own President, who had complete control of the national guard and the Panamanian secret police. Yet they now claim they can protect 16 presidents who will be assembled with Eisenhower in Panama.

Though Eisenhower is protected by the U.S. secret service, it has no actual authority in Panama.

Panama is jealous of her sovereignty, and how much extrajudicial privileges will be permitted Americans in the presence of high officials from all the other American republics is doubtful. The same applies to the security forces and bodyguards which the Latin American presidents will bring them.

SENATOR GEORGE'S LAST BATTLE

The weighty, sometimes pro-Eisenhower prestige of elder statesman George of Georgia was thrown into the fight over Hells Canyon—against his old friends, the Georgia Power Company and other utilities. George, who retires from the Senate this year, made the proposed big federal dam on the Snake River the last senatorial battle of his career, told deserting Democratic colleagues how important it was for them to vote solidly against the private utilities.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson also threw his persuasive charm into full gear and talked to each deserting Democrat—twice. The two made some converts.

Among the arguments they used is the fact that the Eisenhower administration is not against federal power in principle, but only against federal power when it comes to the good dammates; and for federal power when it comes to the poor dammates.

Or, as Senator Neuberger of Oregon puts it: "Ike would give the cream to the private utilities, the skimmed milk to the government."

What Senators George and Johnson faced, however, was the fact that practically every big utility in the U.S.A. teamed up with the Idaho Power Company to defeat federal development of Hells Canyon. When senators who live in the Midwest or the South went home recently, they found representatives of local power companies waiting to buttonhole them at the airport or railroad station, whether the time was 5 a.m. or 11 p.m.

The utility lobby even took a junket of newsmen to the Pacific Northwest earlier this year for a look at Hells Canyon. Airplane travel was free; liquor was lavish.

Dickenson Group Seeks His Release

NEW YORK.—Sgt. Matt McKee's court-martial at Parris Island is front page fare. Buried elsewhere is the almost forgotten case of Corp. Edward Swanson Dickenson, the turncoat.

There is no connection between the matter of the Marine Drill instructor and the POW who changed his mind about staying in Red China, except the thread of military justice and its sometimes uncertain workings. Blotted out of view of all except the readers of True is an appeal for funds in the current issue from Richard Stern, writer who serves as secretary of the "Dickenson Defense Fund Committee." The group operates at Orangeburg, N.Y. Stern and Attorney Guy Emery, heavily decorated West Pointer who lost a leg in the Battle of the Bulge, (he was Dickenson's counsel), are crusading to spring the G.I. who was given ten years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge for "collaborating with the enemy" and "ratting on his fellow prisoners."

Loud speakers belted to the 22 Americans who remained after Dickenson returned to U.S. lines, "Corporal Dickenson returned home (Crackers Neck, Va.) and enjoyed a combination 30-day leave and honeymoon. This fact explodes Communist charges that you and your family will be harmed if you return." At the microphone was an American major.

Dickenson now has been in jail two years. Others who returned after him—Otho Bell, William Cowart, Lewis Griggs and Richard Tenneson—are free as a result of a Supreme Court decision. Dickenson responded too soon. Emery hopes to take the case to the Supreme Court.

Small girl-type child we live with has a French poodle named Mimi. They are inclined to bite each other on occasion, but the girl will let no harm come to the dog from outside sources. She is the poodle's perpetual protector. No criticism may be lodged against the pooch, not even a passing reference to the fact that her haircuts cost six times as much as mowing father's shaggy mane. The other night, after Mimi had been barking at a mirage for 20 consecutive moments, father boomed to his daughter, "Shut that dog up, will you!"

The girl stoutly found a quick defense. "I don't speak French," she said, glacially.

DORIS FLEESON

Sen. George Retires With Party Honors

WASHINGTON.—Modern politics, with their swift changes and their impact upon its leading personalities, came vividly alive in the Senate when Senator Walter F. George of Georgia delivered his valedictory.

The Senate patriarch is claimed with pride by conservatives. In 1930, President Franklin D. Roosevelt sought to purge him because, said Roosevelt, "Dear Walter" is a nice fellow but gets his ideas from "the horse and buggy days."

Yet, for his final effort to influence his colleagues, George sought to strengthen the New Deal social security bill which the same Mr. Roosevelt once described as his own best claim to the affections of the American people.

It is a rebuke to the clichés which are so often the currency of political discussion to find from the record that George voted for the original social security bill and has been intimately connected with every phase of its evolution since then. Mr. Roosevelt's wrath was caused in part by George's conservative views on taxes.

Today's conservatives, led by Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, bitterly oppose the George-advocated amendments extending social security help to the disabled because the amendments will mean higher taxes. They are aiming at a balanced budget and lower taxes.

To them, George said strongly: "You are trying to take a backward step. These principles fit our times and the American concept that free men want to earn their security. The provision is an earned right; it is timely, practicable and workable."

In even stronger language he gave farewell warning to the nation's doctors who have successfully raised the cry of socialized medicine against all bliss they think affect their interests.

"Somebody has got to have the courage to tell these men that if they continue to make their trifling objections to such bills as these, they will find something really bad happening to them," the Senator declared. "The doctors alone can bring on socialized medicine in the United States and by just such actions."

In choosing to key his farewell to a humanitarian issue, the Georgia senator is showing to the public that side of his nature which, more than his talents, has given him such stature with his colleagues.

He has a warm, gently courteous consideration for others that is rare in the rather fighting, egotistical trade of politics. It has carried him and the senators, individually and collectively, over some rough spots.

It is the real reason that the big farewell dinner here this week to say goodbye to Walter F. George is a sellout, warmly patronized by Democrats of all shades of opinion.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

On 'Flushing' Late-Staying Guests

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

A four-year-old part collie, part German shepherd owned by the Carl Londons of 1330 So. 44th is not fed before a pheasant hunt.

It isn't that Boots is too excited to eat, though she loves to flush game, or that she will be a more voracious huntress if half starved.

The simple fact is that Boots gets car sick. So to dispense with some unpleasant moments, the Londons put the dog dish away before the hunt.

The delicate stomach dog must even ride in the front seat of the car to keep her from becoming sick. Once the car door is open though, Boots is a different dog.

Used to following Jack, 11, and David, 13, on their bikes for hours, the canine will flush for the prize birds for hours.

She is plenty tough on rabbits too, and could cut three notches in her collar for killing rabbits trying to steal a meal in the Londons' garden in their back yard.

She even cornered a crow once and it "never flew no more."

Miss Boots has a favorite chair in the living room for sleeping that has become a bone of contention at times. When guests stay past

Boots' retiring hour and unluckily happen to be sitting in her sleeping rocker, Boots will try to nudge them away. She doesn't do it with her nose but in a more effective manner.

The canine will stand beside her rocker and stare at the guest until, becoming uncomfortable under the steady stare, the guest departs.

The London boys couldn't ditch their dog if they wanted to. Even if Jack and David have a half hour's head start on their bikes, Boots, when let out of the house, will scamp after them, never failing to join up with her youthful masters.

ROBERT C. RUARK

Zany Styles Now For Zany Men

I have been catching up with my magazines lately, and it would appear that the American male is about as silly looking as the American woman, a triumph which is pretty difficult to achieve.

The advertisements portray him now as crew-cut in a particularly obnoxious way, with nearly all the hair grazed off his skull, making his head a little more pointed than usual.

The old crew-cut was not so bad, because there was a little hedge left on in front to make him pretend that he had a semblance of forehead. But now they mow it right down to the eyebrows, and his head looks like a cue-ball with fur.

On a college stroke-out—youth, blond and handsome—a crew-cut looks reasonably at home, as the shaved skull looks passable on a German with no back to his head, save neck, such as Erich Von Stroheim.

But as nearly anybody else, a close-cropped skull just looks silly, especially on these gaffers in the ads.

Have you noticed that there are practically no young people in ads these days? All the crew-cuts are gray, which seems to be the stylish color for hair this year. You got to totter on the edge of senility before you can crowd your way into a whisky plug.

This is also the year of the big, bristly guarder mustache on the collar-ad kids. What they take off the top, they shove onto the lip.

A guarder mustache looks fine on a British brigadier of Poona, 1902, but it's a haystack on a young guy and makes him look furtive, as if he had stolen something and was trying to hide it in his mouth.

This is also the year for tattoos, beards, and bluffs. And for people sitting in trees, on rocks, odd horses, and surrounded by unlikely wild animals, such as cheetahs. This is designed to intrigue the reader into the fine print, where they hustle booze and shoes and other homely household necessities.

As of the moment, the male attire is worse than I can remember since looking at pictures of pop, Yale, '09, wearing wild shoes, tight pants and a Berce mustache.

The cap has come back, and there is no living person who can look anything but silly in a cap, especially these guy-blisters the boys are wearing now. Not even a golfer looks good in a cap, let alone some Madison Ave. guy coming out of Toots Shor's.

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of the Lincoln Star: Why do not the music critics and moralists take a holiday when it comes to Presley? I can imagine the pleasure he will get from sneering at their criticism. He is reputed to be pulling down $7,000 a week and that is what counts with him, I imagine. The continual criticism against him makes it certain that his popularity will be given unnatural length. There is a certain rebelliousness about youngsters. There is no better way to encourage Presley patronage than to parade him as objectionable and to criticize him. He is like a "wet paint" sign to the youngsters. They touch the prohibitory spot just to see if it is wet.

Am I Confused?

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of the Lincoln Star: I have no idea how it goes with others but our way there seems to be a little bit of confusion over these new diagonals which are supposed to siphon off some of the traffic congestion. I may be dumb but I simply do not understand what I am supposed to know. I am fighting on treating myself to a course of instruction by taking me and my car out to see if we can figure it all out. It may take us a day or two or maybe longer but if it does all that, I can say to the mayor, the chief of police and all of their men to have patience. I take heart in the fact that it always has and probably always will come out in the wash. On second thought I think I will stay off the diagonal . . . take another route.

Bound To Succeed

At least 200 Nebraskans are expected to give their full efforts today to Governor Victor Anderson's conference and workshop for greater highway safety.

It would be an understatement to say that the conference is timely. Such emphasis on life saving would be appropriate every hour of every day. It will remain that way until every preventable accident, every unnecessary fatality has been ended. That terminal date may be well in mind but the moment has not yet come when it can be fixed.

Nebraska nods approval to the governor's assertion that his safety conference is not to be one for a proper number of well turned speeches and then home. He expects real direction, constructive focus and works of substance.

It is a difficult assignment after these years

of effort and thought to produce innovations in the approach to safety or to discover some magic short cut. But the governor has achieved his primary object by the fact of the conference itself. When 200 gather together they lend new significance to a subject the results of which move among others by chain reaction. And it is a move in the right direction. While the 200, by what they do and say, may cause the saving of a life or more, the principle expanded to include all of Nebraska's more than a million residents would make short work of the problem of avoidable accidents. The governor's conference will attain its highest effect if each of its conferees form a nucleus—an infectious nucleus—of more strict traffic behavior in each of their communities. That is the secondary reaction most desired.

Promotion For Smith

In the mail Wednesday was a letter from the Regional Forester of the United States Forest Service telling of the promotion of Russell K. Smith, representative for Nebraska and Kansas with offices in the Federal Building in Lincoln to a post of greater responsibility in the office of the chief of the Forest Service in the national capital. He is to become chief of the Forest Insect Control Section in Washington.

Although a promotion so well deserved and so richly earned nevertheless it is with a tug of regret that we learn of Mr. Smith's transfer. He has been such an inspiring, useful forester, a man of highest qualifications and of deepest devotion to the job whatever demands it places upon him. We first knew him at Halsey where a mutual interest in the Halsey Forest strengthened a friendship which grew with the years. He performed yeoman service at Halsey. Then he came to Lincoln and the opportunity to visit with him increased. In his new job, which includes responsibility for leadership in the protection of forests from insect damage throughout the United States, a post calling for particular aptitudes, training and experience in a very technical important sense, it will be with a feeling of pride and satisfaction to know that Russ Smith will be on the job.

We have a deep abiding admiration for the men in the Forestry Service. They live in the open with the inspiration of nature to walk with them day and night, a dedicated group of men.

Succeeding Mr. Smith will be Harry P. Gaylor, of Durango, Colorado, staff assistant to the forest supervisor of the San Juan National Forest. Since 1930 he has had the benefit of wide experience in various forests in several states of the region as ranger, assistant forest supervisor and as staff assistant. In 1935 he served as assistant CCC administrator in Nebraska.

Going Which Way?

Ever since the late Sen. Hugh Butler tossed a large-sized monkey wrench into former Nebraska Gov. Val Peterson's understandable hopes for a cabinet post on the Eisenhower team, we confess to a certain measure of sympathy for Val.

Actually instead of a cabinet post he wound up playing the deep outfield on Ike's team—frequently so deep indeed that he seemed to be outside the park. As director of Civilian Defense—as tough an assignment as any man has faced—it has been former Gov. Val Peterson's responsibility to get the American people all heated up and interested in something which for one reason or another they have not been too keen about.

Val can stake claim to having been one of the rooster's tootin' original Eisenhower men. The late Bob Taft had no part in Pete's plan. Taft on the other hand was Butler's idol and carried this state against Ike in the presidential preferential primary of 1952, thanks to the Butler organization.

Now an Omaha paper reports that the former Nebraska governor may achieve cabinet rank in the job he holds. Peterson had a three-and-a-half-page single-spaced letter (undoubtedly written by Sherman Adams) emphasizing the importance of the Civilian Defense job. In addition, the President had Mr. Peterson in to talk things over. Now, if Val tumbles for that line of chatter he doesn't deserve any more sympathy.

The head of Civilian Defense can call upon the American people to get up on their toes and understand it is their lives he is talking about, but the real roadblock he faces grows out of the campaign slogan the Republican national chairman, Len Hall, and his board of strategy have chosen for the 1956 presidential campaign. It is "peace and prosperity." Who is going to get bug-eyed over civilian defense when they are given unwavering assurance that the re-election of Ike and Dick means four years more of peace and prosperity? You can't have it both ways—or can you?

Forgotten Poultry

It is one of those inexplicable things that the nation's pure food and drug efforts—so effective in so many ways—have neglected for years the field of poultry.

Approximately 75 per cent of poultry processed in this country lacks federal inspection at the packing plants and it is claimed that 25 per cent of all cases of food poisoning results. It is not that there has not been legislation on the subject, but that there have been a variety of laws which have formed a patchwork rather than a practical preventive structure.

It was to correct this situation and to bring as much safety to poultry as to the red meats that a bill was introduced in the present Congress. As a measure it is one of those numerous ones seldom heard of and too often lightly regarded. But with a national record of inspection inadequacy the poultry measure is one that deserves prompt and careful consideration.

Nebraska two years ago strengthened its egg law because of sagging markets. The tighter restrictions proved less onerous than expected and the benefits were substantial. It is probable that a better federal law on poultry will not only grant more protection to the consumer but aid the industry at the same time.

Ill-Fated Yellow

Most colors sort of go their own way but yellow has got involved with people and is living perilously. It was long ago adopted by butter makers who thought it gave their product a more tempting look. The margarine people waged war for years with the butter makers and finally won out and their product is now yellow. The last we've heard is that the lard people, always strong for white, have taken a hand in the game. They are now coming out with yellow lard and the margarine and oil shortening people are as mad about it as the butter people were mad at them.

Security Question Raised By Panama

WASHINGTON. — Some of the most wanted men in the Western hemisphere will be the potential "targets for today" at the Conference of Presidents of the American Republics, which President Eisenhower is attending this week end.

These president-dictators are "wanted" by gun-toting exiles from their respective countries, and security agents are worried sick over the possibility of an incident. Never before in history have so many presidents gathered together in one place.

Among the most "wanted" presidents are Trujillo of Santo Domingo, Somoza of Nicaragua, Perez Jimenez of Venezuela, and Rojas Pinillas of Colombia.

These dictators are responsible for the assassination of many thousands of people, and avenging relatives and political supporters may be lying in wait for them, virtually on the banks of Uncle Sam's Panama canal.

Those who talk about "security measures" in the Republic of Panama are reminded that the President of Panama, Col. Jose A. Remon, was shot to death like a sitting duck in the very presence of secret police and bodyguards at the Juan Franco race track in Panama on Jan. 2, 1955.

The Panamanians were unable to protect their own President, who had complete control of the national guard and the Panamanian secret police. Yet they now claim they can protect 16 presidents who will be assembled with Eisenhower in Panama.

Though Eisenhower is protected by the U.S. secret service, it has no actual authority in Panama.

Panama is jealous of her sovereignty, and how much extraterritorial privileges will be permitted Americans in the presence of high officials from all the other American republics is doubtful. The same applies to the security forces and bodyguards which the Latin American presidents will bring them.

SENATOR GEORGE'S LAST BATTLE

The weighty, sometimes pro-Eisenhower prestige of elder statesman George of Georgia was thrown into the fight over Hells Canyon—against his old friends, the Georgia Power Company and other utilities. George, who retires from the Senate this year, made the proposed big federal dam on the Snake River the last senatorial battle of his career, told deserting Democratic colleagues how important it was for them to vote solidly against the private utilities.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson also threw his persuasive charm into full gear and talked to each deserting Democrat—twice. The two made some converts.

Among the arguments they used is the fact that the Eisenhower administration is not against federal power in principle, but only against federal power when it comes to the good damites; and for federal power when it comes to the poor damites.

Or, as Senator Neuberger of Oregon puts it: "Ike would give the cream to the private utilities, the skimmed milk to the government."

What Senators George and Johnson faced, however, was the fact that practically every big utility in the U.S.A. teamed up with the Idaho Power Company to defeat federal development of Hells Canyon. When senators who live in the Midwest or the South went home recently, they found representatives of local power companies waiting to buttonhole them at the airport or railroad station, whenever the time was 5 a.m. or 11 p.m.

The utility lobby even took a junket of newsmen to the Pacific Northwest earlier this year for a look at Hells Canyon. Airplane travel was free; liquor was lavish.

BOB CONSIDINE

Dickenson Group Seeks His Release

NEW YORK.—Sgt. Matt McKoon's court-martial at Parris Island is front page fare. Buried elsewhere is the almost forgotten case of Corp. Edward Swanson Dickenson, the turncoat. There is no connection between the matter of the Marine Drill instructor and the POW who changed his mind about staying in Red China, except the thread of military justice and its sometimes uncertain workings.

Blotted out of view of all except the readers of True is an appeal for funds in the current issue from Richard Stern, writer who serves as secretary of the "Dickenson Defense Fund Committee." The group operates at Orangeburg, N.Y. Stern and Attorney Guy Emery, heavily decorated West Pointer who lost a leg in the Battle of the Bulge, (he was Dickenson's counsel) are crusading to spring the G.I. who was given ten years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge for "collaborating with the enemy" and "ratting on his fellow prisoners."

Loud speakers belloyed to the 22 Americans who remained after Dickenson returned to U.S. lines, "Corporal Dickenson returned home (Crackers Neck, Va.) and enjoyed a combination 30-day leave and honeymoon. This fact explodes Communist charges that you and your family will be harmed if you return." At the microphone was an American major.

Dickenson now has been in jail two years. Others who returned after him—Otho Bell, William Cowart, Lewis Griggs and Richard Tenneson—are free as a result of a Supreme Court decision. Dickenson responded too soon. Emery hopes to take the case to the Supreme Court.

Small girl-type child we live with has a French poodle named Mimi. They are inclined to bite each other on occasion, but the girl will let no harm come to the dog from outside sources. She is the poodle's perpetual protector. No criticism may be lodged against the pooch, not even a passing reference to the fact that her haircuts cost six times as much as mowing father's shaggy mane. The other night, after Mimi had been barking at a mirage for 20 consecutive moments, father boomed to his daughter, "Shut that dog up, will you!"

The girl stoutly found a quick defense. "I don't speak French," she said, glacially.

DORIS FLEESON

Sen. George Retires With Party Honors

WASHINGTON. — Modern politics, with their swift changes and their impact upon its leading personalities, came vividly alive in the Senate when Senator Walter F. George of Georgia delivered his valedictory.

The Senate patriarch is claimed with pride by conservatives. In 1938, President Franklin D. Roosevelt sought to purge him because, said Roosevelt, "Dear Walter" is a nice fellow but gets his ideas from "the horse and buggy days."

Yet, for his final effort to influence his colleagues, George sought to strengthen the New Deal social security bill which the same Mr. Roosevelt once described as his own best claim to the affections of the American people.

It is a rebuke to the cliches which are so often the currency of political discussion to find from the record that George voted for the original social security bill and has been intimately connected with every phase of its evolution since then. Mr. Roosevelt's wrath was caused in part by George's conservative views on taxes.

Today's conservatives, led by Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, bitterly oppose the George-advocated amendments extending social security help to the disabled because the amendments will mean higher taxes. They are aiming at a balanced budget and lower taxes.

To them, George said strongly: "You are trying to take a backward step. These principles fit our times and the American concept that free men want to earn their security. The provision is an earned right; it is timely, practicable and workable."

In even stronger language he gave farewell warning to the nation's doctors who have successfully raised the cry of socialized medicine against all bliss they think affect their interests.

"Somebody has got to have the courage to tell these men that if they continue to make their trifling objections to such bills as these, they will find something really bad happening to them," the Senator declared. "The doctors alone can bring on socialized medicine in the United States and by just such actions."

In choosing to key his farewell to a humanitarian issue, the Georgia senator is showing to the public that side of his nature which, more than his talents, has given him such stature with his colleagues.

He has a warm, gently courteous consideration for others that is rare in the rather fighting, egotistical trade of politics. It has carried him and the senators, individually and collectively, over some rough spots.

It is the real reason that the big farewell dinner here this week to say goodbye to Walter F. George is a sellout, warmly patronized by Democrats of all shades of opinion.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

On 'Flushing' Late-Staying Guests

JACK LONDON AND BOOTS . . . she doesn't eat before performing . . .

(Star Staff Photo)

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

A four-year-old part collie, part German shepherd owned by the Carl Londons of 1330 So. 44th is not fed before a pheasant hunt.

It isn't that Boots is too excited to eat, though she loves to flush game, or that she will be a more voracious huntress if half starved.

The simple fact is that Boots gets car sick. So to dispense with some unpleasant moments, the Londons put the dog dish away before the hunt.

The delicate stomach dog must even ride in the front seat of the car to keep her from becoming sick. Once the car door is open though, Boots is a different dog.

Used to following Jack, 11, and David, 13, on their hikes for hours, the canine will flush for the prize birds for hours.

She is plenty tough on rabbits too, and could cut three notches in her collar for killing rabbits trying to steal a meal in the Londons' garden in their back yard.

She even cornered a crow once and it "never flew no more."

Miss Boots has a favorite chair in the living room for sleeping that has become a bone of contention at times. When guests stay past

Boot's retiring hour and unluckily happen to be sitting in her sleeping rocker, Boots will try to nudge them away. She doesn't do it with her nose but in a more effective manner.

The canine will stand beside her rocker and stare at the guest until, becoming uncomfortable under the steady stare, the guest departs.

The London boys couldn't ditch their dog if they wanted to. Even if Jack and David have a half hour's head start on their bikes, Boots, when let out of the house, will scamper after them, never failing to join up with her youthful masters.

ROBERT C. RUARK

Zany Styles Now For Zany Men

I have been catching up with my magazines lately, and it would appear that the American male is about as silly looking as the American woman, a triumph which is pretty difficult to achieve.

The advertisements portray him now as crew-cut in a particularly obnoxious way, with nearly all the hair grazed off his skull, making his head a little more pointed than usual.

The old crew-cut was not so bad, because there was a little hedge left on in front to make him pretend that he had a semblance of forehead. But now they mow it right down to the eyebrows, and his head looks like a cue-ball with fur.

On a college stroke-out—youth, blond and handsome—a crew-cut looks reasonably at home, as the shaved skull looks passable on a German with no back to his head, save neck, such as Erich Von Stroheim.

But as nearly anybody else, a close-cropped skull just looks silly, especially on these gaffers in the ads.

Have you noticed that there are practically no young people in ads these days? All the crew-cuts are gray, which seems to be the stylish color for hair this year. You got to totter on the edge of senility before you can crowd your way into a whisky plug.

This is also the year of the big, bristly guardee mustache on the collar-ad kids. What they take off the top, they shove onto the lip.

A guardee mustache looks fine on a British brigadier of Poona, 1902, but it's a haystack on a young guy and makes him look furtive, as if he had stolen something and was trying to hide it in his mouth.

This is also the year for tattoos, beards, and bluntness. And for people sitting in trees, on rocks, odd horses, and surrounded by unlikely wild animals, such as cheetahs. This is designed to intrigue the reader into the fine print, where they hustle booze and shoes and other homely household necessities.

As of the moment, the male attire is worse than I can remember since looking at pictures of pop, Yale, '09, wearing bulldog shoes, tight pants and a fierce mustache.

The cap has come back, and there is no living person who can look anything but silly in a cap, especially those itchy-bisles the boys are wearing now. Not even a golfer looks good in a cap, let alone some Madison Ave. guy coming out of Toots Shor's.

I don't know what's been going on in the advertising agencies and the tailor shops, but I think some sort of vengeful plot has been cooking to compete with women in the ugly league. I reckon they figure that if a woman turns herself into a visual idiot every time some Frenchman simpers, maybe the boys better try to get into the cretin competition.

They have succeeded. They all look like Yale men—old, fat, gray, skinny, crew-cut, bush-mustached, tattooed Yale men, generally perched in trees, wearing dress-caps and hats with no brims.

A young Yale man looks weird enough. Age him and the vision is unbearable. I think the men better start gazing critically at themselves, if they can suppress a shudder.

Harriman To Visit Nebraska Sunday

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman will start Friday on a five-state tour in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

He will visit Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico and South Dakota on a four-day swing.

Former President Harry S. Truman will meet Harriman at the Kansas City Airport Friday noon. Truman, who has said he is neutral in the nomination contest between Harriman and Adlai E. Stevenson, told a newsman in Missouri Tuesday night that there is no significance in his plans to meet Harriman at the airport.

"He always meets me when I go to New York," Truman said. "I am extending the same courtesy here."

Truman also is scheduled to introduce Harriman at a Friday luncheon meeting of leading Kansas Democrats at Kansas City, Kan.

After the Kansas City luncheon, Harriman will fly to Great Bend, Kan., to address Democrats at a barbecue. He will visit Colorado and New Mexico Saturday, Nebraska on Sunday and South Dakota on Monday.

Drowning Victim's Body is Identified

OMAHA (AP)—Detective Lt. Louis Worm said Wednesday the body found in the Missouri River here Saturday had been identified as that of Calvin Rogers, 43, who had been missing since March 6.

Rogers, who had lived at 504 S. 25th Ave., was a printer for the Omaha World-Herald. He had been in ill health.

Lt. Worm said identification was made through dentures and clothing.

Vic Expects 'Real' Safety Meet Results

Gov. Victor Anderson declared Wednesday he expects "some real direction" to come out of the state wide highway safety conference which will be held in the legislative chamber here Thursday.

"This isn't just a meeting to hear a few speeches and go home," he emphasized.

After a short opening session at 9 o'clock, the governor said, he anticipates that the group will divide into workshops where individuals will have an opportunity to express personal views on highway safety.

A sifting committee will draw the results of the workshop meetings together into a unified conference report.

Gov. Anderson said at least 200 persons have indicated plans to attend. Jack Lough, Albion editor, will preside.

Richard O. Bennett, Chicago safety expert, will report on White House safety conferences he has attended.

"Anyone interested in safety is invited to the conference," Gov. Anderson said.

"He always meets me when I go to New York," Truman said. "I am extending the same courtesy here."

Truman also is scheduled to introduce Harriman at a Friday luncheon meeting of leading Kansas Democrats at Kansas City, Kan.

After the Kansas City luncheon, Harriman will fly to Great Bend, Kan., to address Democrats at a barbecue. He will visit Colorado and New Mexico Saturday, Nebraska on Sunday and South Dakota on Monday.

Vic Expects 'Real' Safety Meet Results

Gov. Victor Anderson declared Wednesday he expects "some real direction" to come out of the statewide highway safety conference which will be held in the legislative chamber here Thursday.

"This isn't just a meeting to hear a few speeches and go home," he emphasized.

After a short opening session at 9 o'clock, the governor said, he anticipates that the group will divide into workshops where individuals will have an opportunity to express personal views on highway safety.

Sifting Committee

A sifting committee will draw the results of the workshop meetings together into a unified conference report.

Gov. Anderson said at least 200 persons have indicated plans to attend. Jack Lough, Albion editor, will preside.

Richard O. Bennett, Chicago safety expert, will report on White House safety conferences he has attended.

"Anyone interested in safety is invited to the conference," Gov. Anderson said.

Clashes Highlight Second Day Of Airline Hearing

Facilities Of Nearby Towns 'Inadequate'

OMAHA (AP)—The interests of three Nebraska cities which want to maintain their trunk airline service clashed at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing Wednesday with those of neighboring cities seeking local service.

Nebraska matters were getting an airing first at the "seven-state" CAB hearing which opened Tuesday. All told 11 states are involved in the hearing concerning local service for portions of an area now almost devoid of air feeder routes.

Four local carriers seek to extend their routes into the area.

Want To Keep Service
United Air Lines planes, flying from Omaha to Denver, now stop at Grand Island, North Platte and Scottsbluff, Neb. These cities want to keep that service, but have questioned whether United might not seek to abandon these stops if local service was provided at towns nearby.

United told Hearing Examiner Curtis Henderson that it did not want to give up the three stops unless feeder lines substantially duplicate its service across the state.

Witnesses from Kearney, Hastings, McCook and Sidney all testified as to their need of local air service. They said the distance and driving conditions, plus the airline schedules, made use of facilities at Grand Island, North Platte or Scottsbluff inadequate and inconvenient.

Richard E. Hunter, Hastings attorney, suggested that the area south of the Platte River, which divides the lower one-third of Nebraska from the rest of the state, was a separate economic area which could support its own air service.

The cities now served by United lie along the Platte.

Fifty-five cities in the states of North and South Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Wyoming, Colorado and Kansas are applicants in the case. Almost as many more parties, including airlines and state aeronautic departments, are intervenors.

The tempo of the hearing picked up considerably Wednesday after Henderson warned attorneys they didn't have time for hair-splitting and asked them to eliminate unnecessary questioning.

Samuel D. Whiteman, president of the Kansas - Nebraska Natural Gas Co., Hastings, said that many people go to Omaha and Lincoln rather than Grand Island to board planes because of the better service at those points.

Neil Coffin, secretary of the aviation of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, appeared for Lincoln. Under questioning of an Omaha attorney, Neil Helmes, he said he was not qualified to testify about the ability of the Lincoln airport, under its joint use with the Air Force, to handle additional airline traffic.

Ted Thompson, vice president of the National Bank of Commerce of Lincoln, said he had no reason to believe the airport could not handle additional airline flights.

Who's Who At Chadron State College

Working on their masters degree at Chadron State Teachers College are identical twins Avis Dover (left) and Mrs. Arlis Wood. They are talking with Dr. Edward J. Muehlhausen who is teaching this summer at Chadron State in the graduate program.

During the regular school year he is director of education for exceptional children in Denver. (Photo Special to The Star.)

Identical Twins Retain Desire To Seek Education Together

CHADRON, Neb.—Among the first persons to enroll in the graduate program at Chadron State Teachers College this summer were identical twins.

One of the twins is married. She is Mrs. Arlis Wood of Alliance. Her identical twin sister is Avis Dover, who will be teaching in Alliance Junior High School this fall.

Avis has been teaching in the elementary school at Hay Springs since 1953, when both she and Arlis graduated from Chadron State College.

When they graduated only Avis went to teach school. By then Arlis was married and ready to start raising a family.

They entered from Newport High in 1946 and entered Chadron State together. In 1948 Arlis was found to have tuberculosis and she entered a sanitarium. Avis also withdrew from school, but she had enough credits to teach.

Newport Graduates
Eighteen months later Arlis was cured and came back to Chadron State. Her sister returned, too, and they both resumed studies, receiving their degrees in January, 1953.

As twins, when childhood diseases came around, they were both sick at the same time. The bout with tuberculosis that Arlis had was the only disease Avis did not share.

Just recently they had their eyes examined by an Omaha eye doctor. He said both had a very unusual eye condition.

Arlis came back to school this summer at the urging of Avis. The girls say they have always gone to school together and Avis thought they should start working toward their masters degrees together.

Welsh Granted Quick Approval
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee Wednesday gave quick approval to President Eisenhower's appointments to a five member special commission on increased industrial use of agricultural products.

The bipartisan commission, authorized by Congress, was named Tuesday by Eisenhower. The group would recommend to Congress within a year methods for increased use of farm surplus by industry.

The nominees include J. LeRoy Welsh of Omaha, chairman of the Board of Regents of Nebraska University.

Farwell Measure Is Cleared For Action In House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Rules Committee Wednesday cleared for floor action a bill to authorize the Farwell Irrigation District in Nebraska.

The Senate has passed a similar bill. The measure would authorize a project, estimated to cost 30 million dollars, to provide irrigation for 52,500 acres in Sherman and Howard Counties in Nebraska.

House Group Revives Fort Randall Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Interior Committee Wednesday approved a resolution to authorize again construction of a 230-kilovolt power transmission line from Ft. Randall Dam in South Dakota to Grand Island, Neb.

Rep. Miller (R-Neb.) explained the power line was originally authorized by Congress as part of the Missouri Basin reclamation project under the Flood Control Act of 1944. The appropriations Committees of the House and Senate, he said, had suggested that Congress take a "new look" at project units provided for under the law which have not yet been started.

President Eisenhower's budget for this year included 5 1/2 million dollars for the Ft. Randall-Grand Island line but the item was turned down by both the Senate and House Appropriations Committees.

Safeway At Auburn Destroyed By Blaze

... Cause Of Flames, Blast Still Unknown

AUBURN, Neb. (AP) — A large Safeway grocery store located at a block and three-quarters from the main intersection of Auburn was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin Wednesday.

The flames were discovered about 7 a. m. by Oscar Blau, who said he heard a sizzling noise and saw the front windows of the store blow out as he rounded the corner of his car.

Firemen operating two pumper trucks and about eight hose lines, fought the fire under control about 9:30 a. m. but the interior of the building when they started the work. They explained they had selected this hour for the job because it would cause the least disruption of service.

Electrical Storm
Fire Chief Delbert Falk said two possibilities on the origin of the fire were being considered. An electrical storm struck Auburn about 4 a. m., bringing a half-inch rain, and it was considered possible that lightning struck the electrical system. The other possibility was that a short circuit had occurred in the ceiling area to kindle the fire before the power was shut off.

Snyder said that only Tuesday he had asked Lambert Blecha, manager of the board of public works to make a load test of the building to see if wiring was adequate to handle another air conditioning compressor, and was told the wiring was ample.

In Omaha Division Manager Frank G. Pringle of Safeway Stores said the company "will rebuild just as soon as possible." Pringle was unable immediately to estimate the dollar loss.

The Safeway division office said the new store to be built will be of virtually the same type of construction but will be completely modernized.

Safeway just this month reopened its Jefferson, 1044 store, which had been destroyed in virtually the same type of fire.

Nebraska News

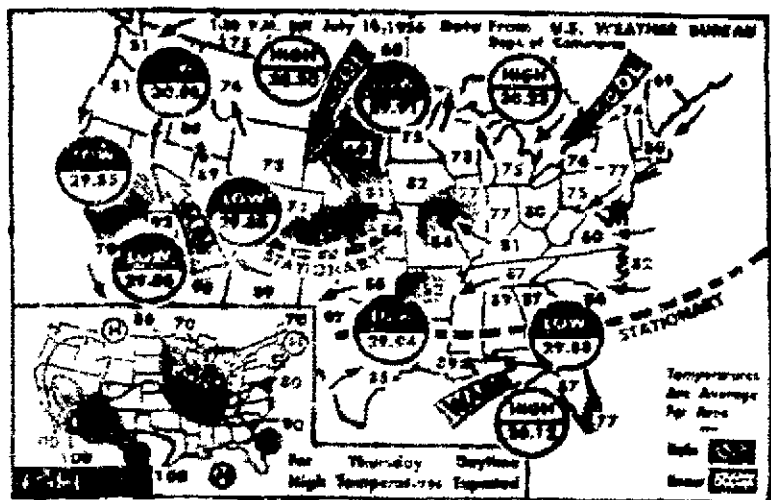

of the store was believed a total loss. The roof and walls remained standing and adjacent building were not endangered.

Opened In 1941
The store, opened in 1941 is a 6,000 square foot structure, 50 by 110 feet, adjacent by a 50 by 140 foot paved area. It is of concrete block construction.

Carl Snyder, manager of the store, said he could not make an accurate estimate of the loss.

Members of Auburn's Board of Public Works had been at work since 5:30 a. m. a half block from the rear of the store installing a transformer and then, were aware of the fire until they heard the explosion.

The fire crew had shut off power to the building when they started the work. They explained they had selected this hour for the job because it would cause the least disruption of service.

July Thundershowers Will Continue

Only scattered showers are due Tuesday between the Rockies and the lower Appalachians and in most of the southern tier of the country. It will continue cool in the northeast corner of the nation while temperatures will continue above normal in the northwest and parts of the south Atlantic states (AP Wirephoto Map)

Safeway At Auburn Destroyed By Blaze

... Cause Of Flames, Blast Still Unknown

AUBURN, Neb. — A large Safeway grocery store located a block and three-quarters from the main intersection of Auburn was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin Wednesday.

The flames were discovered about 7 a.m. by Oscar Blau, who said he heard a sizzling noise and saw the front windows of the store blow out as he rounded the corner of his car.

Firemen operating two pumper trucks and about eight hose lines, brought the fire under control about 9:30 a.m. but the interior er to the building when they started the work. They explained they had selected this hour for the job because it would cause the least disruption of service.

Electrical Storm
Fire Chief Delbert Falk said two possibilities on the origin of the fire were being considered. An electrical storm struck Auburn about 4 a.m., bringing a half-inch rain, and it was considered possible that lightning struck the electrical system. The other possibility was that a short circuit had occurred in the ceiling area to kindle the fire before the power was shut off.

Snyder said that only Tuesday he had asked Lambert Blecha, manager of the board of public works to make a load test of the building to see if wiring was adequate to handle another air conditioning compressor, and was told the wiring was ample.

In Omaha Division Manager Frank G. Pringle of Safeway Stores said the company "will rebuild just as soon as possible." Pringle was unable immediately to estimate the dollar loss.

The Safeway division office said the new store to be built will be of virtually the same type of construction but will be completely modernized.

Safeway just this month re-opened its Jefferson, Iowa store, which had been destroyed in virtually the same type of fire.

Nebraska News

of the store was believed a total loss. The roof and walls remained standing and adjacent buildings were not endangered.

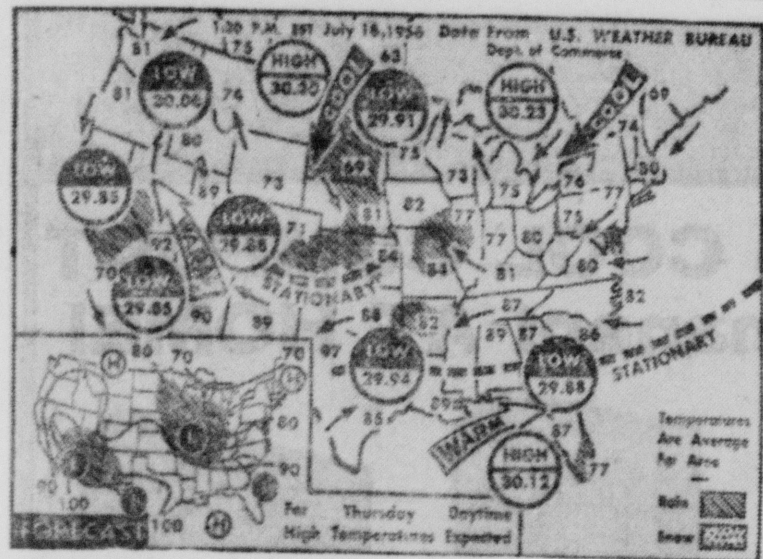

Opened In 1941

The store, opened in 1941, is a 6,500 square foot structure, 50 by 130 feet adjoined by a 50 by 140 foot paved area. It is of concrete block construction.

Carl Snyder, manager of the store, said he could not make an immediate estimate of the loss.

Members of Auburn's Board of Public Works had been at work since 5:30 a.m. a half block from the rear of the store installing a new transformer and they were not aware of the fire until they heard the explosion.

The light crew had shut off pow-

White House Pressure To Kill Hells Canyon Cited

WASHINGTON (INS) — Federal power advocates opened Senate debate on the Hells Canyon bill Wednesday with a charge that the White House is exerting "unprecedented pressure" on the publicans to accomplish its defeat.

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) made the accusation in answer to a charge by Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) that Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler forced the measure to the Senate floor by means of a "sax-gun technique."

The bill would provide for federal construction and operation of a single high dam on the Snake River of Oregon and Idaho instead of the three smaller dams which the administration wants the privately-owned Idaho Power Company to build.

Thursday Note

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) said he expects the Senate to reach a vote on the bill by Thursday afternoon. The outcome is expected to be extremely close with defeat indicated.

Neuberger, in a speech prepared for delivery to the Senate, cited a published report that "intensive White House pressure is being brought to bear on Republican senators to persuade them to vote against the Democratic-backed Hells Canyon project."

This "unprecedented pressure" the senator asserted, "stands in eloquent contrast to the administration's inaction, or expression of mild interest, when such national needs as school construction, foreign trade or the mutual security program are concerned."

The Senate adjourned after a session that lasted 14 hours and 14 minutes, much of it devoted to the Hells Canyon debate.

Horses, Clown Band Mark Western's Parade

By DEL HARDING Star Staff Writer

WESTERN, Neb. — Praeving horses, a clown band and colorful floats entertained more than 1,000 persons lining Western's main street Wednesday evening at the Old Settlers Picnic parade.

The mile and a half parade highlighted the two-day celebration which was staged this year for the third straight time after a lapse of several years. Ardis Ventura of Dewitt won first place in talent show competition with her baton twirling. Vicki Nickel of Western playing the trumpet took second. Other winners Billy Murphy of Western, vocalist, third, Paula Rhynalds of Western, trumpet, fourth, and Phyllis Stewart, pianist, fifth. Donna Hearnrichs of Western accompanied Paula Rhynalds.

The opening talent program included the talent show, preliminary and a concert by the Western School Band. Daykin's Silver Bit Riders performed Wednesday night before the talent show finals. Dances closed the festivities both nights. Carnival rides also provided entertainment.

Western's Commercial Club, headed by Dale Nickel, sponsored the celebration.

Three Nebraska railroads Wednesday asked the Railway Commission for authority to operate joint agencies at four towns as an economy measure.

The towns are Randolph, Oakland, Plainview and Laurel. The estimated saving to the three companies would total about $20,000 a year.

The railroads joining in the application are the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Chicago and Northwestern, and Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha.

Each of the four towns listed is served by two of the three railroads and in each instance there are separate agencies for each line serving the town.

Aandahl To Inspect Mid-State

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Secretary of the Interior Fred Aandahl will inspect the site of the proposed Mid-State Reclamation District in Nebraska on Aug. 4, J. K. McKinney said Wednesday.

McKinney, district secretary, made the announcement after a conference between representatives of the Mid-State district and top level Interior officials.

A Mid-State spokesman described as "very satisfactory" the discussion his group had with Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton, Undersecretary Clarence Davis and Aandahl to exchange ideas and to work out expediting procedures to bring about cooperative efforts between mid-state and the government agency.

The Mid-State Reclamation District proposes construction of a project on the Platte River to cost about $14,300,000, including an interest-free loan of $20,533,030 dollars from the government and a federal contribution of $6,093,335 for flood control features.

A bill to authorize the project on these cost figures was offered early last year by Rep. A. L. Miller. The House Interior Committee has held up action pending a report from the Interior Department.

Bureau of Reclamation engineers have estimated that the project, under high government standards, should cost about $7 million dollars. A private engineering firm estimated the cost at $7 million.

Seaton became secretary on June 9 and this was his first conference with the Nebraska group. A spokesman said he assured Mid-State the Reclamation Bureau would continue to give an objective consideration to the project.

With Congress expected to adjourn within a week or two, the district spokesman said there appeared no chance for any action on the Miller bill this session.

He said however, he thought that later conferences this year will bring more agreement and that a new bill for the Mid-State project may be ready for the next Congress in January.

Those representing Mid-State at the conference included McKinney, C. T. Reeves, president, Clarence J. Reitan, vice president and E. H. Staubitz, a director.

Sheriff Is Entitled To Investigations Mileage—Nelson

The Attorney General's office ruled Wednesday that a sheriff is entitled to mileage allowance for travel to make investigations and keep the peace as well as for travel to make an arrest.

Keith Co. Atty. Firmin Feltz requested the opinion.

Feltz reported the county board did not approve of such work, "unless it is satisfied that there is a reason for so doing, or unless a complaint has been made to the sheriff."

"In our opinion, such a policy disapproval is not controlling," Asst. Atty. Gen. Ralph Nelson wrote. He pointed out, however, that the county board controls the budget.

"Although it should not act arbitrarily, it can in this manner limit the payment of mileage to a sheriff for criminal investigation," Nelson added.

Ardis Ventura of Dewitt won first place in talent show competition with her baton twirling.

Vicky Nickel of Western playing the trumpet, took second. Other winners: Billy Murphy of Western, vocalist, third; Paula Rhynalds of Western, trumpet, fourth; and Phyllis Stewart, pianist, fifth. Donna Headrichs of Western accompanied Paula Rhynalds.

The opening-day program included the talent show preliminaries and a concert by the Western School Band. Daykin's Silver Bit Riders performed Wednesday night before the talent show finals. Dances closed the festivities both nights. Carnival rides also provided entertainment.

Western's Commercial Club, headed by Dale Nickel, sponsored the celebration.

3 Railroads Ask OK To Operate 4 Joint Agencies

Three Nebraska railroads Wednesday asked the Railway Commission for authority to operate joint agencies at four towns as an economy measure.

The towns are Randolph, Oakland, Plainview and Laurel. The estimated saving to the three companies would total about $20,000 a year.

The railroads joining in the application are the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Chicago and Northwestern, and Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha.

Each of the four towns listed is served by two of the three railroads and in each instance there are separate agencies for each line serving the town.

Aandahl To Inspect Mid-State

WASHINGTON (U)—Asst. Secretary of the Interior Fred Aandahl will inspect the site of the proposed Mid-State Reclamation District in Nebraska on Aug. 4. J. K. McKinney said Wednesday.

McKinney, district secretary, made this announcement after a conference between representatives of the Mid-State district and top level Interior officials.

A Mid-State spokesman described as "very satisfactory" the discussion his group had with Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton, Undersecretary Clarence Davis and Aandahl to exchange ideas and to work out expediting procedures to bring about cooperative efforts between mid-state and the government agency.

$44 Million

The Mid-State Reclamation District proposes construction of a project on the Platte River to cost about $44,300,000, including an interest-free loan of $20,568,030 dollars from the government and a federal contribution of $8,093,585 for flood control features.

A bill to authorize the project on these cost figures was offered early last year by Rep. A. L. Miller. The House Interior Committee has held up action pending a report from the interior Department.

Bureau of Reclamation engineers have estimated that the project, under high government standards, should cost about 87 million dollars. A private engineering firm estimated the cost at 67 million. Seaton became secretary on June 9 and this was his first conference with the Nebraska group. A spokesman said he assured Mid-State the Reclamation Bureau would continue to give an objective consideration to the project.

With Congress expected to adjourn within a week or two, the district spokesman said there appeared no chance for any action on the Miller bill this session.

He said however, he thought that later conferences this year will bring more agreement and that a new bill for the Mid-State project may be ready for the next Congress in January.

Those representing Mid-State at the conference included McKinney, C. T. Reeves, president; Clarence J. Reitan, vice president and E. H. Staubitz, a director.

RECIFE, Brazil (U)—The collapse of two busy store buildings in downtown Recife killed 13 persons. Their foundations weakened by nearby excavation work gave way.

Sheriff Is Entitled To Investigations Mileage—Nelson

The Attorney General's office ruled Wednesday that a sheriff is entitled to mileage allowance for travel to make investigations and keep the peace as well as for travel to make an arrest.

Keith Co. Atty. Firmin Feltz requested the opinion. Feltz reported the county board did not approve of such work, "unless it is satisfied that there is a reason for so doing, or unless a complaint has been made to the sheriff."

"In our opinion, such a policy disapproval is not controlling," Asst. Atty. Gen. Ralph Nelson wrote. He pointed out, however, that the county board controls the budget.

"Although it should not act arbitrarily, it can in this manner limit the payment of mileage to a sheriff for criminal investigation," Nelson added.

Senators Trade Hot Words On 'Suppression' Of 'Truth' About Ike's Health

WASHINGTON — A charge that facts about President Eisenhower's health are being suppressed behind a "Hagerty Curtain" stirred a bitter argument in the Senate Wednesday night.

The charge was made by Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.), who declared much of the press was at fault. He said it failed to tell the people that, at a time when Eisenhower was represented as making an important decision, he was "under sedatives."

Sen. Knowland (Calif.), Republican leader, said he was "greatly shocked" by McNamara's accusations, which he interpreted as an attack on the integrity of Eisenhower.

'Deliberately Mislead'

He said the Michigan senator had sought to create the impression the President "had deliriously set out to mislead" the American people about his capacity to serve another term.

Knowland denied American newspapers have entered any "conspiracy" to suppress facts.

Noting that McNamara was sitting temporarily in the chair of Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, Knowland said "I hope the remarks were purely personal" and that McNamara was not speaking as "acting majority leader."

McNamara, in his speech to the Senate, attacked what he called "apparent manipulation of facts" in newspapers.

Hagerty 'Curtain'

Referring to presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, he said a "Hagerty Curtain" has been erected to keep the public "from the truth in one of the most masterful suppressions of the facts ever put across by the advertising techniques of Madison Avenue."

In criticizing the press, McNamara made several exceptions.

He said Publisher John S. Knight has had the courage to publish the truth. Columnist Doris Fleeson, he said, has tried "to skim the whipped cream off the propaganda." And he said James B. Reston of the New York Times has been "fortnightly" in reporting on the President's sickness and subsequent events.

Pearson Praised

McNamara also praised columnist Drew Pearson and Tom Donnelly, a writer for the Washington Daily News.

(Drew Pearson and Doris Fleeson appear daily in The Lincoln Star.)

On the critical side, McNamara said newsmen in the capital have been talking about what he termed Hagerty's "skilful coverup," adding:

"But few of them have been writing about it. The only conclusion I can draw is that they are not allowed to."

Sure Ike 'Not Party'

McNamara said he is sure Eisenhower "has not been a party to the shotgun medical bulletins and the hysterical propaganda barrage from Madison Avenue that has been fired at the American public from his bedside."

He contended, however, that for a month Hagerty has given out announcements saying Eisenhower "is making important decisions" and asked:

"But does any newspaperman point out that those decisions were made—if they actually were made—when the President was still under sedatives, when he could not be making decisions or should not be if he really was?"

Unworthy of Comment

At the White House, acting press secretary Murray Snyder said McNamara's speech "is unworthy of comment."

Hagerty had left in mid-morning for Panama City in connection with the President's trip there next weekend.

McNamara said the Washington Post and Times Herald recently "has been trying to put this health issue into greater perspective." But he said that on one occasion it omitted a column by Pearson on Eisenhower's illness. On another, he said, the paper failed to carry remarks made in a speech by Mrs. Agnes Meyer, wife of the chairman of its board.

As reported by Donnelly, the senator said, Mrs. Meyer declared there seems to be "outright fear in this country of expressing any criticism of the President."

A spokesman for the Post and Times Herald said the paper would have no comment.

Lincoln Plant Now Producing Special Watches For AF

Navigation back watches are now being produced for the Air Force by the Elgin National Watch Company in Lincoln, under a military contract, the firm said.

The contract totals approximately $370,000 and was awarded the low-bidding domestic watch manufacturer through the Army Ordnance Corps, Richard H. Brandes, plant manager at the Lincoln ordnance facility announced.

Back watches feature a balance arrangement which permits stopping of the watch, allowing flight crews to synchronize timepieces. Low temperature lubricants will permit its operation at -35 degrees.

In addition to the ordnance facility here, the watches will also be produced at the Elgin Ill. plant.

280 Live Births, 107 Deaths In County In May

Had Church Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. THEODORE AMEN HEINZ

The marriage of Miss Jacqueline Marie Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Orton Stevens of El Segundo, Calif., to Theodore Amen Heinz, son of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Heinz of Greeley, Colo., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Amen of Lincoln, was solemnized Sunday afternoon, July 8, at the First Covenant Church in Greeley. Clusters of lighted white candles and all-white chrysanthemums and stock formed the chancel decor for the service, the lines of which were read by the Rev. Frederick W. Hyslop of the First Congregational Church in Greeley. Mrs. E. D. Miller, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied the vocal soloist, Mrs. Arleen Heinz Michael of Omaha, cousin of the bridegroom.

Wearing a waltz-length frock of pink lace over net and taffeta fashioned with a torso bodice and widely-flaring skirt was Miss Barbara Bradley of Los Angeles, the maid of honor. Wearing identical ensembles were Miss Juliette Grant of Los Angeles, the bridesmaid, and the junior bridesmaids, Miss Karen Sue Amen, Winston Salem, N. C., and Miss Mary Zeline Amen, Omaha. The attendants carried colonial bouquets of carnations shading from cameo to deep pink.

Roger Enlow of Hermosa Beach, Calif., served Mr. Heinz

as best man, and seating the guests were Norman Lee Heinz, Lincoln, and Richard Dean Amen, Denver, cousins of the bridegroom, and William Knies of Greeley. George Amen and John Amen, Lincoln, also cousins of Mr. Heinz, were the ringbearers.

Imported lace over pleated net and satin in the candlelight tone were chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. A pointed Queen Anne collar and long, tapered sleeves accented the molded basque, and below the narrow waist, the width of the skirt was emphasized by side panels of shirred lace. Her illusion veil was held by a coronet of satin and pearls, and she carried a cascade of white roses and feathered carnations.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the church parlors following the 4 o'clock ceremony, after which a buffet supper for the members of the family and bridal party was held in the garden at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

For their wedding trip to Los Angeles and Inglewood, Calif., where the couple will reside, the bride wore a yellow linen ensemble with white accessories. Mrs. Heinz has been a member of the reportorial staff of the El Segundo Herald. The bridegroom is completing his studies in engineering and design at Northrop Aeronautical Institute at Inglewood.

NEWS AROUND TOWN A Wedding In August

TOOK A turn around town this morning to see what an aging, but far from feeble week might have to offer in the way of news—and found plenty of that spice of life ingredient—variety.

It goes without saying that we learned of vacationists — those who are leaving — those who are home again — and those who still are away — heard that members of Lincoln's young married set are moving away — and brides—and all in all we fared rather well newswise.

OUR vacationists this week include Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapin, III, and their family who will be leaving on Friday to spend three weeks at their summer home on Woman's Lake, Minn.

ON the current list of vacationers are Mr. and Mrs. William

Kimball and their two children, Billy and Cathy, who left a few days ago for a holiday at the summer home of Mr. Kimball's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kimball, Hackensack, Minn.

BACK in town after six weeks vacation on the east coast are Mr. and Mrs. Doane Pickering who divided their time between Felham, N. Y., where they were the guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pickering and their family — and Bedford, Mass., where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Hammar. While in New York Mr. and Mrs. Pickering accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pickering and their family, to Long Island for a several days holiday, and while in Massachusetts the travelers toured the Cape Cod area.

Incidentally, one of the high spots of the trip for Mr. and Mrs. Pickering was getting acquainted with two grandchildren they had not seen — Joan Pickering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pickering—and Philip Kevin Hammar.

ALSO among the home-againers are Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bradley and their three children, Ann, Kay and Brad, who returned on Sunday after spending a week vacationing at Lake Miltona, Minn.

HEAR that Mr. and Mrs. Van Duling have returned to their home in Mason City, Ia., after a week's visit with Mrs. Duling's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lemon.

NOW about those parties — Invitations were in the mail on Wednesday for a luncheon on Thursday July 26 when Mrs. George G. Swingle will be hostess at the Lincoln Country Club in pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Ann Jouvenat. NEXT Monday evening Mrs. Allen Barnard, the former Betty Vogt, will be hostess at a dessert supper at the home of Mr. Barnard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Niles Barnard, when she honors Miss Nancy Stanley whose marriage to Joe Huckfeldt will take place on Saturday, Aug. 4.

LAST evening (Wednesday) Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Maly, Jr., were host and hostess most informally at their home in courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Nelson of San Bernardino, Calif., who are guests at the home of Mrs. Nelson's mother, Mrs. Harold Smith. Mrs. Nelson will be remembered as the former Donnetta Smith, Alpha Chi Omega at Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will return to the west coast this weekend.

EARLY August will find Mr. and Mrs. William Weir (Nancy Chamberlin) and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Althouse packing up and leaving for Imperial where they will reside. It seems that Mr. Weir and Mr. Althouse have purchased an insurance agency in Imperial where they plan to become permanent residents.

MR. AND MRS. THEODORE AMEN HEINZ

The marriage of Miss Jacqueline Marie Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Orton Stevens of El Segundo, Calif., to Theodore Amen Heinz, son of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Heinz of Greeley, Colo., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Amen of Lincoln, was solemnized Sunday afternoon, July 8, at the First Covenant Church in Greeley. Clusters of lighted white candles and all-white chrysanthemums and stock formed the chancel decor for the service, the lines of which were read by the Rev. Frederick W. Hyslop of the First Congregational Church in Greeley. Mrs. E. D. Miller, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied the vocal soloist, Mrs. Arlene Heinz Michael of Omaha, cousin of the bridegroom.

Wearing a waltz-length frock of pink lace over net and taffeta fashioned with a torso bodice and widely-flaring skirt was Miss Barbara Bradley of Los Angeles, the maid of honor. Wearing identical ensembles were Miss Juliette Grant of Los Angeles, the bridesmaid, and the junior bridesmaids, Miss Karen Sue Amen, Winston Salem, N. C., and Miss Mary Zelline Amen, Omaha. The attendants carried colonial bouquets of carnations shading from cameo to deep pink.

Roger Enlow of Hermosa Beach, Calif., served Mr. Heinz

as best man, and seating the guests were Norman Lee Heinz, Lincoln, and Richard Dean Amen, Denver, cousins of the bridegroom, and William Knies of Greeley. George Amen and John Amen, Lincoln, also cousins of Mr. Heinz, were the ringbearers. Imported lace over pleated net and satin in the candlelight tone were chosen by the bride for her wedding gown. A pointed Queen Anne collar and long, tapered sleeves accented the molded basque, and below the narrow waist, the width of the skirt was emphasized by side panels of shirred lace. Her illusion veil was held by a coronet of satin and pearls, and she carried a cascade of white roses and feathered carnations.

A reception for 250 guests was held in the church parlors following the 4 o'clock ceremony, after which a buffet supper for the members of the family and bridal party was held in the garden at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

For their wedding trip to Los Angeles and Inglewood, Calif., where the couple will reside, the bride wore a yellow linen ensemble with white accessories. Mrs. Heinz has been a member of the reportorial staff of the El Segundo Herald. The bridegroom is completing his studies in engineering and design at Northrop Aeronautical Institute at Inglewood.

NEWS AROUND TOWN A Wedding In August

TOOK A turn around town this morning to see what an aging, but far from feeble week might have to offer in the way of news—and found plenty of that spice of life ingredient—variety.

It goes without saying that we learned of vacationists—those who are leaving—those who are home again—and those who still are away—heard that members of Lincoln's young married set are moving away—found some courtesies for guests—and brides—and all in all we fared rather well newswise.

OUR vacationists this week include Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapin, III, and their family who will be leaving on Friday to spend three weeks at their summer home on Woman's Lake, Minn.

ON the current list of vacationers are Mr. and Mrs. William

Kimball and their two children, Billy and Cathy, who left a few days ago for a holiday at the summer home of Mr. Kimball's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kimball, Hackensack, Minn.

BACK in town after six weeks vacation on the east coast are Mr. and Mrs. Doane Pickering who divided their time between Pelham, N. Y., where they were the guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pickering and their family—and Bedford, Mass., where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Hammar. While in New York Mr. and Mrs. Pickering accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pickering and their family, to Long Island for a several days holiday, and while in Massachusetts the travelers toured the Cape Cod area.

Double Ring Service

MR. AND MRS. RONALD E. SUKOVATY

At a double ring ceremony which was solemnized on Sunday evening, July 15, Miss Georgianna Baruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baruth of Powell, became the bride of Ronald E. Sukovaty, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Sukovaty of Wilber. Lighted candles in floor candelabra and bouquets of pink and blue-tinted gladioli decorated the chancel of the Presbyterian Church at Alexandria for the service, which was read by the Rev. Gayle Miller, and Miss Elaine Joe, pianist, played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Deryl Fox, the vocal soloist.

Miss Loretta Reese of Lincoln, as maid of honor, appeared in a full-skirted frock of aqua lace over taffeta. Her brow veil in matching tone was held by a bandeau of frock-tinted carnations. Miss Pauline Baruth, who was her sister's bridesmaid, wore an identical ensemble in pink. Both attendants carried nosegays of white roses.

Serving Mr. Sukovaty as best man was Robert Kohel of Wilber, and the ushers were Gary Crawford, Fairbury, and Max Hauser of Powell, who also lighted the candles for the 7 o'clock ceremony.

The bride's gown of white tulle and lace over satin was designed in the ballerina mode. The strapless bodice of tulle was covered by a lace bolero fashioned with a Peter Pan collar and brief sleeves, which were completed by long mitts of the lace. Alternate tiers of lace and tulle formed the wide skirt, and her veil of illusion was held to the head by a cap of sequined blossoms. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and wore a double strand of pearls and matching earrings, gifts of the bridegroom.

A reception for 100 guests was held in the church parlors after which the couple left for a wedding trip to Yellowstone Park, Wyo. Mr. and Mrs. Sukovaty will reside at 1536 Nemaha in Lincoln.

Retail Prices Please Danish Visitors

By BARBARA HEMPHILL
Star Staff Writer

"You can get much more for your money here," two women from Denmark said after shopping in Lincoln. They also commented on the courtesy of store employees here.

They were Mrs. Jenny Hoerner of Copenhagen and Mrs. Marlene Pedersen of Vedersø, who are visiting four of their brothers who live in Lincoln.

The brothers are Nels Block, who came here in 1929; Chris, who came here in 1929; Herman, who arrived in the U.S. in 1939, and Emil.

Returned For Visits

All the brothers except Emil who came to Lincoln in 1934, have returned to their native country for visits since they came to the United States.

But it was the first trip here for Mrs. Pedersen, who is the wife of a farmer, and Mrs. Hoerner, whose husband has a bakery route.

Farmers in Denmark, a dairy country, are getting good prices for their products, Mrs. Pedersen remarked.

Kai Munk

Mrs. Pedersen was a neighbor of Kai Munk, a well-known Lutheran minister and poet who was executed by the Nazis in 1944. His play, "The World," is being made into a movie in the United States.

Mrs. Hoerner's visit to Lincoln gives her an opportunity to renew her acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Sorenson, who were guests in the Hoerners' home in Denmark in 1937.

Sorenson, also a native of Denmark, came to Lincoln in 1925, met Nels Block when he arrived, and since then has become a friend of nearly all the Block family.

Until Aug. 15

Mrs. Hoerner and Mrs. Pedersen, who also are visiting relatives in Iowa, will be in Lincoln until Aug. 15.

Danish Women Visit Lincoln Relatives

Their visit leaves a fifth brother, Hans, as the only member of the family who has never been in the United States. He is a jailkeeper in Ringkøbing.

University of Nebraska agronomists reported Wednesday good results can be obtained by applying nitrogen fertilizer to corn through irrigation water.

Studies in Phelps and Kearney Counties showed an increase in yield of 20 to 40 bushels per acre where 40 pounds of available nitrogen had been applied through irrigation water.

The fertilizer should be applied during the last hour of irrigating each set. This minimizes leaching loss, the report said.

OK Kremlin Line

ROME (U)—Directors of Italy's Communist party heard a first-hand report from a three-man delegation just returned from Moscow and announced unreserved approval of the new Kremlin line.

The words were the same as those used two weeks ago by Palmiro Togliatti, veteran head of the Italian party, after he had been chided by Soviet leaders for critical comment on the downgrading of Stalin.

Meet To Discuss Ways To Reduce Real Estate Taxes

Ways and means of reducing real estate taxes by adopting other types of taxation will be discussed at a meeting sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Taxation Committee at 3 p.m. Thursday at the Chamber.

The meeting will be solely for the purpose of hearing ideas and no action of any kind will be taken, according to E. Ross Martin, committee chairman.

Members of the Legislature, other state, county and city officials, representatives of labor unions, members of the Board of Education and various other groups will attend the meeting, Martin said.

"After this meeting, the Taxation Committee will review its previous studies on this subject, and will come up with a recommendation which the Board of Directors can pass on to the Legislature this fall or winter," he said.

Diagonal Use Goes Smoothly

"Everything working smoothly" was the word from Lincoln Police Department's Traffic Division late Wednesday after the newly opened Capitol Parkway diagonal had seen its first day of use.

The diagonal highway opened Wednesday morning at 7 a.m. when the barricades were removed. Traffic control lights were put into operation Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. They were checked and adjusted and left running all night.

As to the new mast-arm signals scheduled to go into work at the intersections of 10th, 13th, 16th, and 17th, they were not expected to be going for another week or so, the Traffic Division said. Work is still being done on these new signals.

U Of N 'Teacher's Symphony' Gives 'Meaty' Summer Concert

By RUTH ARDIS

The University Summer Orchestra, made up of a great many teachers from throughout the state, presented its annual summer concert Wednesday at the Student Union under the baton of Prof. Emanuel Wishnow. Prof. Wishnow leaves soon to spend a year in Europe doing research in music.

The program was more serious than the usual summer "pop" concert, evidently to challenge the teachers who prefer the "meaty" works. The audience responded most enthusiastically to the performance.

It is difficult to select the outstanding work of the evening, since all were well-played. Two great romantic classics shared the spotlight—Mendelssohn's "Italian Symphony" and Brahms' "Tragic Overture." The gay singable tunes of the Mendelssohn made good listening, and the "teacher's symphony" gave it a spirited rendition. The serious mood of the Brahms provided a nice contrast to the Mendelssohn.

A lighter touch to the program was provided by "Matinee Musicals" by Benjamin Britten, written in the style of Rossini. The

Menon, Pineau Talk 45 Minutes

PARIS (U)—V. K. Krishna Menon, Indian minister of state, spent 45 minutes Wednesday with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and said afterward that they spoke mainly about disarmament.

It was generally believed that their most important subject of discussion was the rebellion against France in Algeria. Asked if anything in the talk brought a settlement any closer, Menon would only reply: "All talks help to bring settlements closer."

"For Your Convenience Charge It"

Retail Prices Please Danish Visitors

By BARBARA HEMPHILL
Star Staff Writer

"You can get much more for your money here," two women from Denmark said after shopping in Lincoln. They also commented on the courtesy of store employees here.

They were Mrs. Jenny Hoerner of Copenhagen and Mrs. Maren Pedersen of Vedersoe, who are visiting four of their brothers who live in Lincoln.

The brothers are Nels Block, who came here in 1920; Chris, who came here in 1929; Herman, who arrived in the U.S. in 1939, and Emil.

Returned For Visits

All the brothers except Emil who came to Lincoln in 1948, have returned to their native country for visits since they came to the United States.

But it was the first trip here for Mrs. Pedersen, who is the wife of a farmer, and Mrs. Hoerner, whose husband has a bakery route. Farmers in Denmark, a dairy country, are getting good prices for their products, Mrs. Pedersen remarked.

Kai Munck

Mrs. Pedersen was a neighbor of Kai Munck, a well-known Lutheran minister and poet who was executed by the Nazis in 1944. His play, "The Word," is being made into a movie in the United States.

Mrs. Hoerner's visit to Lincoln gives her an opportunity to renew her acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Sorensen, who were guests in the Hoerners' home in Denmark in 1947.

Sorensen, also a native of Denmark, came to Lincoln in 1923, met Nels Block when he arrived, and since then has become a friend of nearly all the Block family.

Until Aug. 15

Mrs. Hoerner and Mrs. Pedersen, who also are visiting relatives in Iowa, will be in Lincoln until Aug. 15.

Irrigation Water Provides Needed Nitrogen For Corn

University of Nebraska agronomists reported Wednesday good results can be obtained by applying nitrogen fertilizer to corn through irrigation water.

Studies in Phelps and Kearney Counties showed an increase in yield of 20 to 40 bushels per acre where 40 pounds of available nitrogen had been applied through irrigation water.

The fertilizer should be applied during the last hour of irrigating each set. This minimizes leaching loss, the report said.

Dulles To Attend GOP Convention, Help Draft Plank

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles will attend the GOP National Convention next month and help to draft the foreign policy plank in the party's platform.

He announced his plans at a news conference Wednesday. Dulles said he knew of no precedent for a secretary of state participating in a political convention in this manner.

But he said he didn't think that helping with the platform would be inconsistent with his expressed intention of keeping out of the political campaigning this year.

As far as that goes, he added with a chuckle, he would be delighted to go to the Democratic convention, too, and help write their foreign policy plank. The Democrats haven't invited him, however, he said.

OK Kremlin Line

ROME (AP)—Directors of Italy's Communist party heard a first-hand report from a three-man delegation just returned from Moscow and announced unreserved approval of the new Kremlin line.

The words were the same as those used two weeks ago by Palmiro Togliatti, veteran head of the Italian party, after he had been chided by Soviet leaders for critical comment on the downgrading of Stalin.

Meet To Discuss Ways To Reduce Real Estate Taxes

Ways and means of reducing real estate taxes by adopting other types of taxation will be discussed at a meeting, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Taxation Committee at 3 p.m. Thursday at the Chamber.

The meeting will be solely for the purpose of hearing ideas and no action of any kind will be taken, according to E. Ross Martin, committee chairman.

Members of the Legislature, other state, county and city officials, representatives of labor unions, members of the Board of Education and various other groups will attend the meeting, Martin said.

"After this meeting, the Taxation Committee will review its previous studies on this subject, and will come up with a recommendation which the Board of Directors can pass on to the Legislature this fall or winter," he said.

Diagonal Use Goes Smoothly

"Everything working smoothly" was the word from Lincoln Police Department's Traffic Division late Wednesday after the newly opened Capitol Parkway diagonal had seen its first day of use.

The diagonal highway opened Wednesday morning at 7 a.m. when the barricades were removed. Traffic control lights were put into operation Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. They were checked and adjusted and left running all night.

As to the new mast-arm signals scheduled to go into work at the intersections of 10th, 13th, 16th, and 17th, they were not expected to be going for another week or so, the Traffic Division said. Work is still being done on these new signals.

U Of N 'Teacher's Symphony' Gives 'Meaty' Summer Concert

By RUTH ARDIS

The University Summer Orchestra, made up of a great many teachers from throughout the state, presented its annual summer concert Wednesday at the Student Union under the baton of Prof. Emanuel Wisniewski. Prof. Wisniewski leaves soon to spend a year in Europe doing research in music.

The program was more serious than the usual summer "pop" concert, evidently to challenge the teachers who prefer the "meaty" works. The audience responded most enthusiastically to the performance.

It is difficult to select the outstanding work of the evening, since all were well-played. Two great romantic classics shared the spotlight—Mendelssohn's "Italian Symphony" and Brahms' "Tragic Overture." The gay singable tunes of the Mendelssohn made good listening, and the "teacher's symphony" gave it a spirited rendition. The serious mood of the Brahms provided a nice contrast to the Mendelssohn.

A lighter touch to the program was provided by "Matinee Musicales" by Benjamin Britten, written in the style of Rossini. The work consisted of five short sections contrasting in mood and rhythm. The interpretation of each part was excellent. The "Pantomime" featured solo oboe with Duane Schulz and solo cellist Carol Puckett.

Chabrier's "Danse Slave," deeply reminiscent of his famous "España" brought the concert to a vigorous conclusion. The main characteristic of the entire concert was the spirit with which the works were performed.

Duke, Fan Make Up--But Bums' Snider Still Angry About Fight

CINCINNATI (AP)—Duke Snider, the fiery center fielder for the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers, agreed, along with the fan with whom he exchanged punches Tuesday night, to forget it Wednesday, but the harmony a police judge tried to create was a bit off tune.

"I lost two teeth," said Ralph Baunel of Mason, Ohio, when Judge Clarence Denning suggested that he should "forget it all."

"It's up to the gentleman," said Snider, looking at his 6-foot, 3-inch, 200-pound opponent.

Snider and Baunel, 33, battled charges of assault and battery against each other after a brief altercation on the field Tuesday night following a 4-3 victory by the Cincinnati Redlegs over the Dodgers. Both charges were dismissed.

"No Guits?"

Both of them agreed that Baunel said: "What's the matter, Duke? Ain't you got no guts?"

Snider said that as he moved toward Baunel, he was hit on the lip. He said, "I might have swung back."

Judge Denning told Baunel the matter of his teeth was one for civil action. Then he added: "When you're in the grandstand you can call the players all the names you want, but when the game's over you ought to act like gentlemen."

"It's over now. The Redlegs won and the Dodgers lost."

Court decorum was shattered at that point when the spectators applauded.

"What do you say, Duke?" Judge Denning continued. "Are you willing to forget it?"

Shake Hands, Bud—

When Baunel agreed, the home run slugger and the fan shook hands.

Baumel touched things off again, however, when he told the Duke as they shook hands that he hoped Brooklyn loses the next two games here.

Snider let it pass in the court room with no more than a dirty look but outside, when they shook hands again and Baunel repeated the hope, the Duke said sharply:

"If we do, I can tell you it couldn't happen to a better club."

Snider told a reporter he became angry when Baunel talked to him as he left the playing field.

"I was mad," he said. "The guy called me gutless or something like that."

BUMS' EARLY START HALTS REDLEGS, 6-3

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers' speedy Johnny Klippstein for four runs in the opening inning Wednesday night and went on to lead the Dodgers to a 6-3 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The Dodgers' speedy Klippstein who had beaten them four times previously this season.

Prior to this season, Klippstein had a 4-1 record against Brooklyn. Carl Erskine, yielding a first-inning home run to Wally Pate, seemed well on his way to his finest pitching job since his no-

Rain, Delaying Tactics Stop Chiefs In Twin Bill

... Doubleheader Set Tonight

By DON BRYANT Sports Editor, The Star

The Lincoln Chiefs continued to have the "First-Half Blues" Wednesday night.

Just when it looked like Larry Shepard's crew was going to bust wide open with a big rally that might insure a tie with Topeka for the first-half crown a short, but intense, rainstorm hit Sherman Field.

And the Chiefs had to settle for a 3-3 tie with the Dukes leaving the bases loaded with none out in the bottom of the fifth when the downpour struck.

The game will be replayed as the first game seven innings of a doubleheader Thursday night, starting at 6:30 p.m. Don Rowe (9-5) will do the pitching. Myron Hoffman (5-1) will get the call for the second game.

Some mighty shrewd delaying tactics by Albuquerque Manager Bob Swift probably prevented the Chiefs from winning the game before the rain hit with full force.

Trailing 3-1 going into the fifth, Marcus Cobos got the Lincoln crew rolling with a solo home run—his third in as many nights. Then, in rapid-fire order, Pinchhitter Don Rowe drew a walk, Howie Goss singled and Sam Milby beat out a bunt for a base hit to load the sacks.

At that point a sprinkle turned into rain and Swift and the Dukes dropped anchor.

Bob called for Al Osorio to relieve Tom Lovrich and to assure as much delay as possible, switched catchers.

When Plate Umpire John Schulte tried to hurry things up, the new catcher—Valley Thomas—killed some time by arguing and Osorio helped the Dukes by playing catch with First Baseman Hal Toso.

Finally, as the tempo of the rain reached doubletime, Osorio pitched to Kenny Tushman and the Chiefs' second sacker dumped

San Francisco, Calif. (AP)—Chancellor Raymond Allen of the University of California at Los Angeles says the presidents of the Pacific Coast Conference institutions want him to fire Coach Red Sanders and Athletic Director Wilbur Johns.

He told the San Francisco Examiner he had no intention of complying.

Allen indicated the PCC presidents also want Dr. Fred Fagg, president of Southern California, to fire Jess Hill, Trojan football coach who is slated to become athletic director when Willis Hunter retires next year.

Backs Coach

In Los Angeles, Dr. Fagg issued a statement saying:

"Our report to the conference shows that no member of our athletic staff is implicated in any way in any violation of the PCC code. No one has suggested that Coach Hill or any other member of the staff be replaced. USC has full confidence in Mr. Hill and has no intention of making any change in its athletic personnel."

The presidents met here to review penalties meted members of the conference.

Williamson Wins JC Golf Tourney

FREMONT (AP)—Bud Williamson Jr., of Lincoln, won the Nebraska Junior Chamber of Commerce state golf tourney Wednesday with a 77-77 for two 18-hole rounds.

Williamson had a 77 Tuesday for the first round and was in fourth place. He plugged along for another 77 Wednesday and grabbed top honors when Bob Epstein, Omaha, who led Tuesday with a 75, slid to an 81.

Jim Daily, Omaha, with 76-81—157, and George Radik, Omaha, 82-75—157, finished third and fourth.

The top four all became eligible for the national meet in August. Others in the top 10 at the finish were:

Gene Johnson and Mark Nelson, Fremont, both at 82-78—160; Gary Gruenewald, Lincoln, 81-82—163; Bill Briefelder, Lincoln, 81-82—163; Pete Saller, Norfolk, 80-80—164; and Tim Shriner, Norfolk, 82-85—167.

LAWRENCE—Lawrence pounded out 12 hits including three triples to defeat Roseland here, 5-4.

Baseball's Funniest Here Sunday

Max Patkin, baseball's funniest and most popular clown, will entertain Lincoln Chiefs fans here Sunday night preceding the Chiefs-Pueblo Western League baseball game. Patkin, a former major league player, is especially known for his mimicry and contortions.

With an assist by the judge they dropped charges of assault and battery against each other. The punching occurred at the end of Tuesday night's Redleg-Dodger game. (AP Wirephoto.)

Ruckus Costs Gomez $250, Suspension

MILWAUKEE (AP)—One of the wildest melees of the current National League season resulted Wednesday in a $250 fine for pitcher Ruben Gomez of the New York Giants, a $100 fine for first baseman Joe Adcock of the Milwaukee Braves and a three-day suspension for Gomez.

In addition, Gomez drew a severe reprimand from Warren C. Giles, league president, who stipulated that the fine be paid personally by the Giants' pitcher, not his team. Adcock was not suspended.

The Puerto Rican right-hander touched off a mad fracas involving players of both teams in the second inning of Tuesday night's game at County Stadium when he twice hit Adcock—once with a pitched ball and once with a deliberately thrown ball. Adcock, with most of his teammates in pursuit, charged after Gomez who ran to the dugout and disappeared up the ramp leading to the clubhouse.

Order was restored by the umpires and half a dozen police officers. The Giants eventually won in 11 innings, 8-6.

Giles told Gomez in a telegram: "Your conduct in the game at Milwaukee Tuesday night was the most unsportsmanlike nature and could have had extremely serious results. For that conduct you are fined the sum of $250, payable at the league office before game time July 22. This fine is to be paid by you personally and the New York club is not to reimburse you in whole or in part."

The telegram to Adcock contained no comment other than to notify him that he had been fined $100.

Both players were banished from the game after the incident which had 33,239 spectators in an uproar.

The suspension means that Gomez won't face the Braves in the remaining two games of the series here. But Manager Bill Rigney of the Giants said he planned to pitch him against Milwaukee "the first chance I get. That's the only way we can straighten this out. I can't hide him from them. It certainly will be no later than next week when we play them in New York."

The Braves, front-running, will play the Giants at the Polo Grounds July 24, 25 and 26.

Gomez had no comment Wednesday but Rigney said he talked with him and that the pitcher regretted the incident.

Mantle Gets 31st Homer In 1st Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Lowly Detroit broke the New York Yankees' 11-game winning streak Wednesday, taking both ends of a doubleheader, 8-4 and 4-3, despite Mickey Mantle's 31st home run.

Al Kaline's 14th homer broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning of the second game after the Tigers had clubbed Tom Sturdivant and Don Larsen for 12 hits in the opener. Kaline also saved the day with a leaping catch on Mantle's drive with two out and two on base in the ninth inning of the second game.

Mantle's blow, in the first inning of the opener against winner Paul Foytack, put him eight games ahead of Babe Ruth's 1927 record pace after the day's action.

Frank Lary, one of the best Yankee tamers in the league, beat New York for the fourth time. The six-hitter was his eighth victory. It was Maury McDermott's fifth defeat.

The Yanks hadn't lost a game since the opener of a July 4th doubleheader at Boston and had taken 18 of their last 20 going into the doubleheader as they broke the American League race wide open.

Duke, Fan Make Up--But Bums' Snider Still Angry About Fight

CINCINNATI (AP)—Duke Snider, the fiery center fielder for the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers, agreed, along with the fan with whom he exchanged punches Tuesday night, to forget it Wednesday, but the harmony a police judge tried to create was a bit off tune.

"I lost two teeth," said Ralph Baumel of Mason, Ohio, when Judge Clarence Denning suggested that he should "forget it all."

"It's up to the gentleman," said Snider, looking at his 6-foot, 3 inch, 200-pound opponent.

Snider and Baumel, 33, filed charges of assault and battery against each other after a brief altercation on the field Tuesday night following a 4-3 victory by the Cincinnati Redlegs over the Dodgers. Both charges were dismissed.

"No Guts?"

Both of them agreed that Baumel said, "What's the matter, Duke? Ain't you got no guts?"

Snider said that as he moved toward Baumel, he was hit on the lip. He said, "I might have swung back."

Judge Denning told Baumel the matter of his teeth was one for civil action. Then he added:

"When you're in the grandstand you can call the players all the names you want, but when the game's over you ought to act like gentlemen."

"It's over now. The Redlegs won and the Dodgers lost."

Court decorum was shattered at that point when the spectators applauded.

"What do you say, Duke?"

Judge Denning continued, "Are you willing to forget it?"

Snider told a reporter he became angry when Baumel talked to him as he left the playing field.

"I was mad," he said. "The guy called me gutless or something like that."

BUMS' EARLY START HALTS REDLEGS, 6-3

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers nicked Johnny Klippstein for four runs in the opening inning Wednesday night and went on for a 6-3 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. The Dodgers teed off in a hurry against Klippstein who had beaten them four times previously this season.

Prior to this season, Klippstein had a 4-1 record against Brooklyn.

Carl Erskine, yielding a first-inning home run to Wally Post, seemed well on his way to his finest pitching job since his no-

Phils Gain 1st Twin Bill Sweep Of Year

CHICAGO (AP)—Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons pitched the Philadelphia Phillies to their first doubleheader sweep of the year in defeating the Chicago Cubs 6-4 and 6-1 before 14,331 Wednesday.

Roberts gained his 10th victory in the opener—his first Wrigley Field conquest as a starter since Sept. 15, 1953. He yielded 11 hits as the Phillies, who until Wednesday had split 13 win bills, overcame a 4-0 Cub lead in a game marred by eight errors—four by each team.

Simmons won his fifth in the nightcap although the Phils had only six hits off three Chicago pitchers.

Jim Greengrass' double and Andy Seminick's single gave Simmons a 2-0 lead in the second inning off loser Jim Davis. Then the Phillies chased Davis with a four-run sixth.

Greengrass supplied the bulk of the power in this romp, delivering a base-clearing double. Chicago's lone run came in the seventh as Walt Moryn singled after Monte Irvin's double.

Due to the error-marred opener, only half of the runs scored were earned.

Dee Fondy's fourth homer was the big Cub hit off Roberts. Jim Brosnan suffered his fourth loss Knaub, former Scottsbluff prep star, had the seventh best broad jump in the nation. Knaub, competing for UCLA, leaped 24-10 1/4.

Beerline, Big Seven track standout while attending the University of Nebraska, was tied for fifth in the hop, step and jump. Competing unattached, Beerline had a mark of 48-9 3/4.

The Cubs built up a 4-0 lead with two run spurts in the first and fifth innings. Then the Phils launched their catch up operation with a run in the sixth on Stan Lopata's double.

Philadelphia chased four runs in the seventh to score Hacker. Half of the tallies were unearned on Don Hoak's throwing error.

PARNELL STOPS ATHLETICS, 7-4

BOSTON (AP)—Four runs in the eighth inning carried the Boston Red Sox to a 7-4 victory over Kansas City Wednesday as veteran southpaw Mel Parnell tossed a seven-hitter on the heels of Saturday's no-hit, no-run masterpiece.

Parnell hit some rough spots but went the distance for the second straight time.

Jackie Jensen's bases - loaded single and rookie shortstop Don Buddin's two-run double highlighted the Sox eighth when the home forces severed a 3-3 deadlock.

Mickey Vernon, whose eighth home run of the campaign registered the game's first two tallies in the third inning, laid down a perfect bunt toward first, leading the bases in the eighth. Billy Klaus and Ted Williams had drawn walks to open the frame.

Jensen singled to left for one run, Jim Piersall was walked by reliever Jack Crimian, forcing in the second and then Buddin slammed his two-bagger into the left-field corner.

Colonel W. W. Sterling who headed up the Texas Rangers for many years, invited me over to his home for some "real ranch coffee."

We spent a pleasant afternoon killing poor Sam Bass all over again.

"I was born up in Belton, used to play under the Sam Bass tree. Same tree old Sam made camp under on his way to rob the bank at Round Rock. My uncle, W. W. Chamberlain was present when old Sam killed the deputy sheriff. Got a button off Sam's shirt. It used to lay up on the mantelpiece, I remember. Don't know what happened to it. Reckon his son's got it now."

Colonel Sterling is six feet, four. Never smoked and never drank. He was chosen as model for a statue of the Texas Ranger at Austin.

He said he was writing a book to straighten out a few facts that get all wrong on TV and in the magazines.

For one thing he thinks very highly of Frank Jackson who was with Sam Bass in the fight at Round Rock. "Jackson's in the bushes, a-trying to get away," says the Ballad of Sam Bass.

"The Rangers had nothing but the greatest admiration for this fellow, Frank Jackson. You come to think about it out in that alley with the horses tied and those old black powder .45s bangin' and Jackson put old Sam wounded on that horse. My gosh, I tell you."

"Now, my uncle told me and it never was printed, where Major Jones set this trap for old Sam, well he told a deputy sheriff there. Let him in on the deal, do you see. He says, 'Now don't you do a thing. You see any strangers, don't do a thing.' He was waitin' for Major Reynolds to march in from San Saba so they could catch all of them. Boy rode down on a horse to tell him; there was no telegraph then."

"Well, this deputy sheriff saw old Sam come into the store there to buy some groceries, he says to him, 'Friend, you got a pistol?'"

"Old Sam says, 'Yeah, got several of 'em.' And killed him. That's what sprung it. Now, that would straighten out a few things."

For a long time while he was head of the Rangers, the Colonel thought he might locate Frank Jackson who got away and was never heard of again.

Eugene Manlove Rhodes, the writer, had a contact who said he knew Jackson. There was a lot of correspondence. The Colonel didn't want to capture Jackson who would have been an old man then. He wanted to take him over to Round Rock and straighten out some details.

The Colonel is a born literary man. Has to have the facts. However, Jackson — if it was Jackson — didn't care to have any more dealings with the Rangers. The Colonel was very regretful. He reckoned Jackson was dead now.

"Lot of old boys sprung up around the country claimed to be Jackson. Just like the old boys who claim to be Jesse James."

Fellow used to be captain of the Arizona Rangers and later was warden at Yuma, he claimed Frank Jackson died there in prison. But I don't know, I think we were on the right trail.

"I formed a warm friendship with Governor Hinkle of New Mexico — he was a brother-in-law of Ranger Captain Jim Gillett who was with old Sam when he died. He thought we had the right man."

"Now Joel Collins, he was the one with Sam in the Union Pacific train robbery, he came over to my wife's mother's place near Goliad. Her father raised fine horses and Collins was a fine lookin' fellow, he says, 'Uncle John, I'm in a hell of a fix. I'm supposed to marry a girl in Goliad and if you'll let me have a horse, I'll go up the trail for I don't want to get married. So he let him have a horse and he went to San Antonio and met Sam Bass and you know the rest."

It was a nice peaceful afternoon with black powder 45s banging all over the parlor. And, as the Colonel says, straightened a few things out.

State Treasury Bond Sales Among Leaders

Nebraska continues to rank among the leaders in the sale of government treasury bonds to individuals.

Sales during June amounted to $6,221,143 making the total for the first half of the year $35,728,843, according to Neville R. Phillips, acting state director.

The state has now attained 56 per cent of its yearly goal compared with a national figure of 48.6 per cent, the report continues.

DISASTER AID REQUEST RECEIPT ACKNOWLEDGED

White House Assistant Sherman Adams Wednesday acknowledged receipt of Gov. Anderson's request to President Eisenhower that Nebraska be declared a disaster area so farmers in drought affected counties can receive aid.

Adams said the request had been turned over to the Civil Defense Administration and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, as the law provides.

Gov. Anderson explained the request to have the state designated as a disaster area was a necessary prerequisite to obtaining relief for specified counties.

A representative of the Agriculture Department last week inspected 15 counties from which requests for drought assistance had come.

The governor said he had received no report yet on the inspector's recommendations.

Farmers in the affected areas seek permission to graze reserve acres entered in the soil bank program.

Hart Bound Over On Arson Charge

OGALLALA, Neb. — George Emerson Hart, 57, was bound over to District Court after preliminary hearing in County Court on first degree arson charges and a second count of attempt to defraud an insurance company.

County Judge W. I. Tillinghast set bond at $10,000 and asked the bonding company for confirmation of financial responsibility.

Hart entered a plea of innocent on both counts.

Hart was accused of arson as the result of a fire that extensively damaged the Tasee Freeze building in the north part of Ogallala last Sept. 26.

Sense Of Family Obligation Said At All-Time Low

OMAHA (AP)—Douglas County Welfare Administrator Philip H. Vogt asserted "the sense of family obligation and personal responsibility is at an all-time low."

He added "the problem of neglect and abuse are more frightening than the problem of juvenile delinquency. We are now having the results of hasty marriages during and after World War II."

Vogt made the statements to the County Board during a report on the Douglas County Youth Center.

CALF ESTIMATE TO BE MADE FOR COUNTIES

A new series of calf crop estimates has been worked out by the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics on a county basis. State Agriculture Director Ed Hoyt said Wednesday.

In the past the annual calf crop was estimated as a state total. Nebraska is the first state to break the figure down by counties, Hoyt explained.

There is no breakdown as to number of beef and dairy calves, however.

Cherry County leads, with an average of more than 100,000 calves a year for the past six years. The figure was 124,000, compared to 129,000 in 1954.

Custer had 86,000 last year and 79,000 in 1954. Holt had 81,000 in 1955 and 83,000 in 1954.

Lincoln County had 64,000 in 1955 and 67,000 in 1954.

Tito-Nasser-Nehru Meeting Cordial

BRIONI, Yugoslavia (AP)—Presidents Tito and Nasser Wednesday announced a tightening of bonds between Yugoslavia and Egypt. Then they traded views for 5 hours with Prime Minister Nehru of India.

Nehru said the three nation talks were only a friendly exchange without any decisions.

"We have not settled all the questions of the world—I repeat not," Nehru said. "It is really extraordinary that we cannot hold a friendly meeting without you of the press attaching the highest importance to it."

Tito, however, called the three-nation talks "very, very successful—cordial and friendly."

They will continue Thursday.

Jets For Tito Deal Stirs Senators

WASHINGTON (INS)—Two leading Senate Democrats announced Wednesday a move aimed at compelling the administration to reveal why the U.S. is planning to send Communist Yugoslavia 320 jet planes.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), protested against the curfew of secrecy which has shrouded the plan and said he had Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.), will attempt to bring the whole story to light.

O'Mahoney and McClellan will jointly sponsor an amendment to the controversial foreign aid appropriation bill which would require the executive branch to keep Congress informed as to how and why Mutual Security funds are being spent.

The Wyoming senator made it plain that the amendment is primarily designed to flush out the facts on the "Jets-for-Tito" deal, which was disclosed last Sunday by William Randolph Hearst Jr., editor-in-chief of the Hearst News-papers. O'Mahoney said:

"It is impossible for me to understand why we are now about to ship jet planes to Tito while the whole story is hidden."

Wide Tax Cut Short A Vote; Plan New Try

WASHINGTON (INS)—A House committee move to cut everyone's taxes fell short by one vote Wednesday but sponsors declared they will renew efforts to win approval before adjournment.

The proposal rejected by the House Ways and Means Committee 13 to 12 in a closed-door vote would have exempted from federal income taxes payments up to $1,000 made to retirement systems, including federal social security deductions.

The proposed tax cut could amount up to $10 a year, depending on the total contributed to the retirement system and the taxpayer's income bracket.

Voting against the bill were all ten of the committee's Republican members and twelve Democrats, chairman Jere Cooper (Tenn.) Wilbur Mills (Ark.) and Arne Forand (R. I.). All twelve voting for it were Democrats.

Rep. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.), one of those backing the move, told newsmen he will bring up the proposal again in future closed committee in an effort to get it to the house for a vote before Congress quits for the session.

However, even if the house should pass the bill, it faces an almost insurmountable barrier in the senate finance committee, where Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) has opposed all tax cut proposals in the last two years. The proposal would cost the government several billion dollars a year in revenue.

Here's a wholly different washing system that gets clothes cleaner—much cleaner—without rubbing.

Look for these famous Frigidaire Features... Rapidry Spin—that whirls out extra pounds of water per load of clothes.

The whole washing action is done with water. There are no stiff fins, no thrashing back and forth... so washables last indefinitely longer.

FLOAT-OVER RINSE—that automatically floats lint, scum and dirt-laden suds up and out of the tub.

RUB FREE washing multiplies the cleaning power of soaps and detergents; uses much less water, takes less time.

Profit Taking Hits N.Y. Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Profit taking interrupted the summer rise Wednesday as the stock market closed irregular.

The market was higher at the start. A spell of profit taking occurred in midmorning and then prices recovered under leadership by steels, motors, rails and some oils.

The leaders waned but selected issues picked up throughout the day to keep the market higher until the final hour when a second burst of profit taking trimmed a wide assortment of issues.

Steels were solidly on the upside early in the session but closed mixed to mark the 10th day of the 1956 advance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 26 cents to 230.20, industrials down 50 cents, rails down 20 cents and utilities down 10 cents.

Volume, at 2,530,000 shares, was the highest since June 8, the day President Eisenhower suffered his intestinal ailment, and compared with Tuesday's 2,300,000.

In the American Stock Exchange prices were irregularly lower on volume of 1,090,000 shares, compared with 1,350,000 Tuesday.

County And City Governments To 'Evacuate' To Crete Friday

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The County Courthouse and City Hall will close Friday afternoon when some 260 governmental officials and employees evacuate their offices to Crete in connection with Lincoln-Lancaster County Civil Defense's "Operation Alert."

A 60-second blast from CD sirens throughout the city with signal alert and evacuation which will begin some time between 1:15 and 2 p.m. Friday.

The evacuation of city and county governmental units and establishment of temporary government offices at Crete's Tuxedo Park is part of a nation-wide test scheduled by the Civil Defense Administration.

Test Co-Ordination

The local exercise will also test civil defense signals, co-ordination of emergency plans of participating services, evacuation route and the handling of traffic, registration and feeding techniques, and the "Conelrad" frequency of 1240 kc.

Mrs. Melba Scott, deputy county CD director, said the city and county governments will evacuate by separate routes.

The city route will be on West O to Milford, then to Dorchester, and into Crete.

County employees will travel 10th to Pioneers, west on Pioneers to the Rokeby road, then south to Highway 33 and into Crete.

'Lights On' Convoy

Participating cars will travel in "loose" convoys with "lights on." About 15 members of the Sheriff's Posse, some mounted on horseback, will be stationed along the county evacuation route to help direct traffic.

Arriving at Crete between 2 and 2:30 p.m., the county government will "theoretically" establish offices in the Tuxedo Park dance pavilion and the city government will use the exhibition building.

After registration of the two groups and other tests, employees will be served a light lunch by CD food services.

A medical team will also participate in the exercise and a field hospital will be set up.

"Paper-Work Problem" For some 50 Civil Defense staff members and section leaders a "paper-work test of problems" will be conducted.

A Civil Defense "control center" will be set up at Crete during the morning and the mobile communications center will be in contact with state headquarters and ham operators participating in the test.

The test will extend to about 3:30 p.m. and governmental employees will return to Lincoln between 4 to 4:30 p.m.

Conelrad Check As part of the nation-wide alert, local radio and television stations will go off the air from 2:10 to 2:25 p.m.

Postcards for a reception check have been mailed out.

In addition to the governmental evacuation, the local CD staff members will work out "problems on paper" for the support of Omaha, which will be "hit" by a five megaton hydrogen bomb.

Court Cooling Hassle Not Settled Yet

Lancaster County Board Chairman Russell Brehm said Wednesday that the controversy over air conditioning of the County Courtroom "will be straightened out—probably Thursday."

County Judge Herbert Ronin has charged that the Board has fallen down on its "promise" to air condition the courtroom this summer. Ronin turned down the window units for his chambers "out of fairness" to employees of the court.

Meanwhile, Thomas M. Davies, president of the Lincoln Bar Association last year, has written the commissioners that the entire courtroom should be air conditioned.

Davies' letter said a special committee "met with you, and it was my understanding that although nothing could be done last summer, the County Courtroom would be air conditioned this summer."

Davies pointed out that the County Court "handles a tremendous volume of business" in the summer as well as winter.

He commended the commissioners on step taken to air condition courthouse offices.

Adding to the hassle was the Board's move to air condition two District Courtrooms when the original allocation by-passed the County Courtroom.

10,000 Federal Workers To 'Flee'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Plans were under way Wednesday for a mass evacuation from Washington of about 10,000 government officials and other key personnel in advance of an imaginary saturation blitz on the U.S. by nuclear weapons.

The zero hour is 11 a.m. Friday, when shrieking sirens will warn of an impending attack in which 125 nuclear bombs will reduce 76 populous areas of the nation to smoking rubble.

Most of President Eisenhower's cabinet will heed the warning to flee the capital. Government personnel will be relocated in 65 temporary quarters ranging from 50 to 300 miles from Washington.

The President does not intend to leave the White House for the 1956 "operation alert" exercises, as he did in similar exercises last year.
